CONCLAVE MEETS ON THURSDAY

Preparations Begin in Earnest for Convening of Solemn Conclave

Beautiful and Historic Sistine Chapel Fitted up for Ceremonies

ROME, Jan. 30.—(By the Associated Press.) Preparations were begun in earnest today for the convening on Thursday of the solemn conclave at which the cardinals of the Roman Catholic church will choose a pope to succeed Benedict XV. The last minute ceremonial will be preceded by three solemn requiem masses, beginning this morning, in which the cardinals will participate.

The beautiful and historic Sistine Chapel, in which the conclave will meet, has already been fitted with the long stalls in which the cardinals will sit while the balloting proceeds. Minute instructions have been given out.

ANOTHER NEW POSITION

Inspector of Building Construction Recommended for the Buildings Department

Acting upon the recommendations of a committee of building contractors and building tradesmen, who recently conferred with him, Francis A. Condit, superintendent of public buildings, has written to the budget and audit commission, suggesting that provision be made in the buildings department for the creation of a new official, to be designated "inspector of building construction."

The letter states that it is the belief of building men that a real necessity exists for a building construction inspector, but that he must be an expert in his line, competent to figure loads and strength of materials and also be equipped with a practical knowledge of building construction. Such a man would be taken from a civil service list.

The committee that waited upon Supt. Condit included John J. O'Connor, representing building contractors, and Harry Costello and a Mr. Fletcher, representing building tradesmen.

The committee had no criticism whatsoever of the work of the buildings department, but felt that there should be a development in the city in the matter of building inspection, which would have a tendency to bring the department up to standards set in other cities.

If the budget and audit commission, acting upon the suggestion of the superintendent, makes provision for such an official, it is believed that he would work subordinate to the superintendent in a manner similar to gas piping and elevator inspectors.

Direct Sentences and Fines Imposed In Liquor Cases Heard In District Court

Charged with illegal keeping of intoxicating liquor on the premises of the Revere hotel, James F. Mulvaney, proprietor, and Fred Perreault, night clerk, were found guilty in the district court today and sentenced to serve three months in the house of correction and to pay a fine of $100 in company with other officers, he entered the hotel with a search warrant. He was admitted by Perreault, who demanded him to show the warrant and then refused to bring the officers upstairs on the elevator. He and Officer Dwyer remained downstairs, while the others went to the upper floors. He told of following the night clerk to the bar, where he claimed he found a bottle of liquor and two glasses on the drain. He and Perreault struggled for possession of the bottle, with the officer finally gaining possession.

Civil Service Commission Says That Ash and Waste Collectors Are Illegally Employed

The civil service commission holds that all men now employed in the division of ash and waste collection, formerly employed by the board of health, are illegally employed and will remain so until requests for transfer are submitted to the civil service commissioner and records in the latter's office are corrected.

This information came today to City Engineer Stephen Kearney from James E. O'Neill, director of the civil service labor bureau, who wrote in reply to a telephone conversation of a few days ago to the civil service superintendent of streets. At that time Supt. Doherty requested a list of permanent men legally employed in the department of ash collection.

NOTRE DAME PLAYERS VOLUNTARILY CONFESS

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Jan. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—Eight Notre Dame university athletes today voluntarily confessed to F. William C. Carey, chairman of the athletic board, and Knute Rockne, football coach, that they had played in the semi-professional football game at Taylorville, Ill., Nov. 27, 1921, with the Carlinville, Ill., team. They were immediately disqualified from further athletic competition at Notre Dame.

The eight men were: Eddie Anderson, Mason City, Ia., All-American end; Chester Wynne, Orinquo, Kas., All-Western fullback; selections of several football writers, and star builders.

Roger Kiley, Chicago, varsity end, captain of the basketball team, and star track man.

Lawrence Shaw, Stewart, Ia., varsity tackle and Western champion shotputter.

Harry Hara, Huntington, Ind., sub-center in football and regular baseball player.

Robert Phelan, Fort Madison, Ia., sub-varsity fullback.

Earl Walsh, Adrian, Ia., sub-varsity back.

Dick Selfert, Carlinville, Ill., sub-end.

The players exonerated fins Deach, member of the American Olympic team, and John Mohardt, All-American back, from taking part in the game, saying that neither was in any way implicated in the affair.

EVACUATION OF IRELAND GOES ON

Each Day Sees Large Force of British Troops Leave Dublin and Other Ports

Departure of Dublin Garrison This Week—Barracks for New Irish Army

DUBLIN, Jan. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—British evacuation of Ireland is proceeding more speedily than was anticipated.

Each day sees a large batch of troops leave Dublin and other ports. Departure of the Dublin garrison is due to begin this week and the newspapers are speculating as to how the vacated barracks will be used. It is suggested they may be employed to relieve the housing shortage. Five large barracks will be available in Dublin.

Throughout Ireland, similar buildings are falling under control of the new Irish government and some may be needed for the new Irish army, although nothing has yet been decided in regard to the size of that body. It is taken for granted that it will be established promptly and green uniforms are being manufactured in Dublin on a large scale.

It is noteworthy that the evacuation of the British has occurred everywhere without manifestation whatever from the people, there has been no sign of either popular rejoicing or regret.

The transition from one government to another has been rapid, but as was to be expected, criminals have done their best to take advantage of any confusion arising from the change. There have been daring bank robberies and many holdups throughout the country, and even in Dublin city, but the new government is dealing vigorously with the criminal element.

Although the evacuation of British troops is to be complete, it is only from southern Ireland. For the purposes of the treaty in this respect, northern Ireland counts as though it were English, and accordingly large bodies of troops are fulfilling the promise to evacuate simply by marching across the border into Ulster.

The announcement by Premier Sir James Craig in Belfast that the British government had promised him it would leave 12 battalions in northern Ireland is regarded suspiciously in Sinn Fein quarters.

SEPARATE RECORDS FOR INFLUENZA

Although no further cases of influenza have been reported locally, the board of health today received a telegram from the bureau of census, department of commerce, requesting that in all future weekly reports of total deaths and deaths under one year, separate report be made of deaths resulting from influenza and pneumonia.

The telegram states also that influenza is epidemic in London at present and the federal bureau desires to keep separate records for the present at least in this country.

A similar order was issued and complied with during the epidemic of 1918.

The board of health meets this afternoon at 4:15 o'clock.

Death Toll From Washington Theatre Horror Brought to 108, With 132 on Injured List

Harding Calls Off White House Reception

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Because "there is so much of grief in Washington today" President Harding today announced postponement of a reception tonight at the White House at which Washington residents of Ohio birth were to meet in observance of the birthday of President McKinley. The president in a letter to Milton E. Ailes, chairman of the arrangements committee, said:

"While I have looked forward with most agreeable anticipation to the reception to be given tonight by the Ohio society, at which we were to meet and happily recall the memory of the late President McKinley, I cannot but feel that we would best answer all our inclinations if the reception were postponed. There is so much of grief in Washington today, so much of sorrow attending the Knickerbocker Theatre disaster, that I should prefer to omit a social affair while Washington is suffering from the great shock."

Senate Investigation of Disaster Proposed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Investigation of the Knickerbocker Theatre disaster by a senate committee was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, a member of the senate District of Columbia committee. Under the rules the resolution was referred to the audits and control committee.

Supporting the resolution, Senator Frelinghuysen, republican, New Jersey, said the investigation should be "a widespread one of the entire district government," adding that he knew from personal knowledge that many buildings in Washington were "fire traps" which might at any time cost scores of lives.

BILL EMBODIES MANY CHANGES

Hearing Tomorrow on Measure Defining Duties of School Committees in Cities

Would Make Superintendent Executive Officer Only—Other Hearings Scheduled

(Special to The Sun)

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—Scheduled for hearing tomorrow morning, before the legislative committee on education, is the bill recommended by the state department of education to define the duties of school committees and of superintendents of schools in cities.

It embodies such a division of authority as has been tried recently in a very few cities in the state, and the results of the trials have been such as to cause the state department to recommend that it be applied to every city.

One of the provisions which will cause a change in policy in many cities is the recommendation that the superintendent be made executive officer only, with other hearings scheduled.

Six Books Written in Secret By Octogenarian Grandmother

BY N. E. A. SERVICE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—An octogenarian grandmother, on the verge of publishing six books!

Such is Mrs. Francois Berger Moran, wealthy society dowager of Washington, D. C.

"Tiny Souls," a novel which is being brought out by a Boston publishing company, is the first of the six that is to appear. It has also been accepted in scenario.

"If one really does things one is before the public eye; and if one does not do things, one is useless." This is the key-note to Mrs. Moran's charitable and social activities, as well as her literary efforts.

At the age of 15 she wrote "Little Buttercup," which was published in 1880.

MRS. FRANCOIS BERGER MORAN

was the result. From 10 to 12 each morning her quill flew.

"Broken Idols," a two-volume novel, which she calls her life work, was one of the outcomes of this secret writing.

One of her books, written 30 years ago, is built wholly on eugenics.

"When I meet people I look for the good in them. Some look for dirt amongst the diamonds; I look for diamonds in the dirt," Mrs. Moran says.

50 AUTOS RUINED IN NASHUA FIRE

NASHUA, N. H., Jan. 30.—Fifty automobiles were consumed or badly damaged by a fire which broke out last evening in the big wooden garage of Dennis Cohen on Reeds court, causing damage estimated at more than $40,000.

A general alarm was sounded for the first time in many months. The fire, being a spectacular one, drew hundreds of men and women on foot and in autos from neighboring towns and cities.

The fire threatened homes and other buildings in Mellen's court and on Canal street. The fire spread and slightly damaged the home of Mrs. Mellen.

URGES ENACTMENT OF Mother of Five Joins Her Sons TARIFF LEGISLATION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Enactment at the earliest practicable moment of tariff legislation to afford American manufacturers that protection without which they "cannot weather the storm of foreign competition" and to provide an American valuation basis for import duties, was urged by John E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers in an address here today at the opening of the association's tariff convention.

The meeting, Mr. Edgerton said, was called for the purpose of "giving the most effective expression to the declared will of the association's membership" in favor of that program, as shown in a recent referendum vote.

Arguing in favor of the American valuation plan, he declared the government had the same right to fix the basis of its tariff assessments as it did the assessment rates themselves. Answering that the "lament" that the adoption of the plan would mean government price fixing which, he said, came largely from the importers' interests, had "no foundation in reason" the speaker continued:

"In my own opinion the Genesis of the opposition to this American valuation principle of valuation lies in the fear of the discovery by the public of the favorite abiding place of abnormal profits. Let him who should the doctrine that the American consumer is entitled to as low prices as those in other countries point out any instances wherein the American public has shared the advantage of cheaply imported commodities. Articles of merchandise may be purchased abroad at low prices and imported on a European valuation, and that valuation is determined by the cost of manufacturing and marketing the same commodities by American manufacturers. The moral is that occupants of glass houses should not too often indulge their impulses to throw stones."

Y. M. C. A. MEN'S MEETING

The men's meeting at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon was addressed by Prof. John A. Nichols, foreign field secretary of the International Reform bureau. The subject of Prof. Nichols' address was "The World War Against John Barleycorn." The devotion were in charge of Rev. George A. Marston of the Fifth Street Baptist church. H. R. Heckman led the assembly singing, while Miss Ethel Thompson sang two gospel hymns.

Edwin Dolan, the blacksmith shop of Mr. Cohen, the barn of Arthur Canoe, all in Mellen's court, and the home of Cyril Salvati and the estate of Mrs. Gustin Marshall on Canal street.

Mrs. Margaret Duquette, aged 93, was carried out of the house at 4 Mellen's court. The aged woman was ill and was cared for by neighbors.

In College—Keeps Her Young

MRS. MARY CHURCH AND HER DAUGHTER, MARJORIE

(By N. E. A. Service)

LIBERTY, Mo., Jan. 30.—Would you stay young?

Would you banish the bugbear of loneliness?

Would you like the leading words of an advertisement for cold cream or safety razors?

All wrong—they are simply the questions which Mrs. Mary A. Church, grandmother and college student, answers.

Mrs. Church, mother of five, grandmother of four and fellow classmate of two of her sons in the freshman class of William Jewell college here, has a new philosophy.

Attend college with young persons and you will find yourself growing young, she says.

In the few months she has been nibbling elbows with her own and other boys in the college classroom she has found the answer to the three questions above.

Drop the habits of older persons and go to school!

Mrs. Church wears the little green freshman cap and observes all the rites of college freshmen.

"I felt myself slipping," says she. "I knew age was laying a finger on me. My husband, a lecturer, was away from home a great deal. A great loneliness came upon me."

"I discussed the situation with my husband."

"And then I entered college with my boys."

"Age is slipping off my shoulders and I haven't felt so young in years. I no longer am lonely. I haven't time to be. Then there's the companionship of my boys. We are in the same classes and study together."

My son Carroll is 20 years old and James is 18. My daughter, Marjorie, is 12 and well able to help with the household work which we do easily after class hours."

Mrs. Church has two married daughters.

She is studying English, French, history of western Europe and appreciation of music.

Three badly wounded in shooting affray

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—Guiseppi Bonifaci, aged 56 years old, and his daughter, Vincent Bonifaci, aged 13 years, and Mariano Massa, 25 years old, all of East Boston, were seriously wounded last night as a result of an East end shooting affray.

The shooting is said to have been caused by Bonifaci's refusal to allow two men to see his 15-year-old daughter. Bonifaci is believed to have been one of the two men who sprang to protect her father from men who dragged him into the hallway and fired at him.

MAYOR LOSES HIS FIGHT

Charges Dismissed and Youngstown, Ohio, Police Chief is Reinstated

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 30.—George L. Olco, Youngstown's eccentric mayor, lost his first big fight since he took office Jan. 1, when the city hall service commission Saturday night dismissed charges brought by the mayor against Police Chief James Watkins, come reinstated him.

The commission found evidence insufficient to substantiate charges that the police chief overstepped his authority in releasing prisoners.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

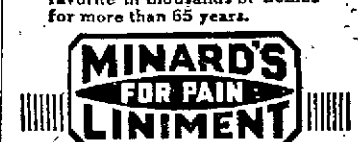

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the rest of the body? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "biliousness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "loggy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c. —Adv.

INCOME TAX FORMS NOW AVAILABLE

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—Forms 1040 for reporting individual return of income for the taxable year 1921 of more than $5000 are available at the offices of Collector of Internal Revenue Malcolm B. Nichols, and the following branch offices, Lawrence, Fall River, Worcester, Springfield, Fitchburg, Lowell, Lynn, Salem, Haverhill, Framingham, Taunton, Brockton, New Bedford, Pittsfield, North Adams, Northampton and Holyoke.

The forms contain six pages, two of which are devoted to the return, two to a duplicate of the return to be retained by the taxpayer, and two to instructions. The form will be sent to persons who filed similar returns last year, but failure to receive a form does not relieve the taxpayer of his obligation to file on time, on or before March 16, 1922, if the return is made on calendar year basis.

Other forms available are: 1040-A for reporting income of $5000 or less; 1040-F containing schedule for reporting items of income and expenses of farms; 1095 and 1099 for reporting the names of those to whom an employer pays $1000 or more a year.

GAVE OWN LIFE TO SAVE OTHERS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Many brave deeds were reported yesterday by rescuers working in the Knickerbocker theater wreck, but they said Albert G. Buehler of Washington was the outstanding hero, giving his own life that others might live. He could have been taken from the debris fully an hour before he was, but he directed the rescuers to aid others whom he declared were more seriously hurt than he. He died soon after he was taken from the building.

GRANGE OFFICERS ARE INSTALLED

The following officers of Lowell grange, 335, P. of H. were recently inducted into office by Mrs. Margaret A. Lane of this city, lady assistant steward of the state organization: Master, Mabel Lapointe; overseer, Eva D. Lewis; lecturer, Lois M. Kittredge; steward, Elwyn Lapointe; assistant steward, Jennie W. Joyce; chaplain, Elizabeth M. McQuinn; treasurer, Amy H. Farley; secretary, Blanche M. Jolly; gate keeper, David Chandler; Ceres, Margaret O'Neill; Pomona, Nellie B. Farnum; Flora, Margaret A. Lane; lady assistant steward, Alice E. Kittredge; executive committee, Frank O'Neill; pianist, Adeline Powers.

The worthy master appointed the following committee for the year: Roloff, Mattie McAdams; Laura Gallagher, May Awall, Bessie Southam, Mrs. Fernley, Frank O'Neill, Charles Chandler, John Powers and David Chandler; literary, Maudie Chandler; Helen Holden, Lillian Cunley, Ethel Bezanon and Eugene Paquette; social, Sarah K. Mooney, Margaret A. Sarre, Marjorie Will, Edna Chandler, Elizabeth Mitchell and Ida Faneuf. Following the meeting, supper was served in the banquet hall by an efficient committee with Mrs. Margaret O'Neill as chairman.

MRS. BOUCHER DIES FROM POISON DOSE

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—Police investigation into the circumstances surrounding the suicide of Mrs. Bernice Boucher has ended. It was announced today, Mrs. Boucher died in a local hospital yesterday from the effects of poisonous tablets she had swallowed in her apartment the day previously. The police said she committed the act in a fit of despondency.

Police Capt. Hall said that Francis B. Boyer of Southboro, a former clergyman whose name was mentioned by Mrs. Francis Boucher after she had taken the poison, was held harmless for her death. Boyer himself said he had no statement to make beyond that which he gave the police.

"I have found nothing," Capt. Hall said "to alter my original opinion that the girl poisoned herself. She may have killed herself because Boyer withdrew friendship and assistance that

OPEN AIR ART SHOW

The mayor and the police chief open the "open air art show" in the "free commune" of Montmartre, Paris. Artists who have not succeeded in placing their works in galleries thus obtain public exhibition.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY PAINTERS' UNION

NEW BEDFORD, Jan. 30.—The state convention of the American brotherhood of painters, decorators and paper hangers adjourned yesterday after electing Donald H. C. McIntyre of Boston, president, and choosing Northampton, Mass., as the meeting place of the next convention.

Patrick H. Trigg of Springfield was elected secretary-treasurer.

Among the resolutions adopted was one instructing the executive boards of the 71 locals in the state to seek through conferences with employers to stabilize wagon hours and conditions in the trade.

Y.M.C.A. ACTIVITIES

The Young Men's Catholic Institute held an interesting meeting in the organization's quarters in Stackpole street, yesterday morning, and acted on a number of important matters. The board of directors was given the power to select a manager for a basketball team for the remainder of the season, and Timothy J. Linch was awarded the position. A basketball team for the coming year also received favorable consideration and it is probable that a committee will be organized soon to organize and direct a team. Full power to arrange for a dance and entertainment on March 16 was given the literary committee, the event to be conducted in the organization's rooms. An Irish drama is being planned by the literary committee for presentation in the near future. A complimentary banquet and dance will be tendered the participants in the recent musical show and the event will be conducted in a short time.

GAVE PIANO RECITAL

The pupils of Julius Woessner gave a delightful piano recital in their teacher's studio in the Donovan building yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance and the program was very enjoyable. Those who took part were Edmund Coast, Selma Brooks, William Mitten, Abel Peter, John Kasanjan and Carlton Anderson. Halg Markarian, Thomas Flanagan, Aprium Hoven, Anna Hoven, Francis Carey, Lillian Choolagian and Reita Choolagian.

had extended through eight months. But he did all that he could.

"I was impressed that, as men go, there was a game, square fellow. There will be an autopsy of course, and later an inquest."

120-MILE DOG RACE

Snow Packed Notches and Trails of White Mountains Scene of Endurance Test

BERLIN, N. H., Jan. 30.—The snow-packed notches and trails of the White Mountain country will provide the course, and four teams of huskies will be entered as contenders in a 120-mile dog race beginning next Thursday. The contest, one of speed and endurance, will take three days and will carry with it the eastern championship.

In the running will be dogs of both Canada and the United States, among them one survivor of the team that took Peary to the North Pole and others that are descendants of dogs brought back by the Arctic explorer.

From far La Roubie, on the upper waters of the St. Maurice river, 250 miles northwest of Quebec, Henri Skene will bring his crack team. These dogs are used day in and day out for work in connection with Peary's Indian trading post. From Bernis, 280 miles northeast of Quebec, on the St. Lawrence shore, John Label has already made his mush of 200 miles to Quebec. His team is a combination of the best dogs at his trading post.

To meet these Canadian huskies, two American teams have entered. Arthur T. Walden of Wonalancet, N. H., with a set of six dogs that inherited qualities of stamina and speed from Peary's huskies, has been trying them out over the snow in this state for several weeks, and says he is confident of making fast time.

Jacques Suzanne, an artist and explorer, has had in training at Lake Placid, N. Y., a team of dogs with substitute that is expected to make the snow fly. Siberians constitute most of his prospective team, but a dog that was with Peary has shown enough of his old qualities to win a place in the traces for the championship race.

The three-day contest will start and finish here, with the award based 72 per cent on speed and 28 per cent on the condition of the dogs.

The daily racing stint will be about 40 miles. For the first day the dogs will be driven to Colabrook, with the overnight stop will be there. The second night stop will be at Lancaster. During the run, the contestants will pass through some of the most picturesque spots in the White Mountains, Dixville Notch, the President's Range, North Stratford, Jefferson and Randolph.

The race will be held under the auspices of the Nansen Ski Club, and in connection with a three-day winter sports carnival.

Washington Bowed in Grief

were withdrawn before dawn and soldiers from Fort Myer also began leaving.

All dead and injured had been removed early today from the Christian Science church nearby, a large structure which for more than 36 hours had served as a clearing house for the victims.

No bodies had been taken out of the theatre in the 12 hours ending at 10 o'clock today.

All morning the rescuers struggled with the heavy wreckage left when the snow-laden roof of the structure collapsed during the showing of a comedy feature bill, Saturday night, Brig. Gen. Bandholtz, commander of federal troops in the district, in personal charge of the rescue work, said it might be another 24 hours before it could be definitely said there were no more dead or injured in the wreckage of twisted steel and concrete which yet remained to be cleared away from the mass that was hurled down without warning, on the pleasure-seeking hundreds below.

Imprisoned For 36 Hours

It was believed, however, that the section now being explored would yield few additions to the awful list of dead and injured, it being near the rear and under the part of the balcony which held up when the front of it crashed down to the theatre pit under the impact of the falling roof. A party of the rescuers early today had been struggling for hours to release from the part of the wreckage now being overturned one man believed to be yet alive although imprisoned under the mass for nearly 36 hours. The great weight of the steel beams and concrete which crashed with the roof, in many instances made the rescue of victims harrowing slow and tedious.

City Bowed in Grief

The capital city was bowed in grief

today to learn the full extent of the tragedy with the recovery of victims yesterday and last night. This was the more intensely shared by the rest of the country because of the considerable number of visitors who suffered in the catastrophe. President Harding, in a statement last night, said the tragedy had left him with the "same inexpressible sorrow which has come to all of Washington and which will be sympathetically felt throughout the land."

Three-Fold Investigation

A three-fold investigation of the cause and circumstances of the collapse of the theatre roof was in preparation today. In addition to an exhaustive inquiry ordered by the board of commissioners of the District and another to be started immediately by the grand jury, Senator Capper, of Kansas, a member of its senate district of Columbia committee, announced that as soon as the senate convened he would introduce a resolution calling for an investigation of the tragedy. The senator said he had received reports that the building code of the District had been violated in more than a few instances during the rush of construction resulting from the rapid increase of population here after the war declaration.

Making Fight For Life

Edward J. Shaughnessy, second assistant postmaster general, who was among the 14 listed as seriously injured, was still making a fight for life today at the Walter Reed hospital. His wife and two daughters also were injured, but not so seriously. Among those prominent on the list of dead as it stood today was: Former Representative A. J. Barchfield, formerly of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Virginia Parrand, sister of Minister Bianchi of Guatemala.

Most of the dead still lay early today in the basement of the nearby Christian Science church, to which they were removed for identification. Many of the fatally injured also were taken there, later to swell the total of victims.

SAYS ITALIAN POPE SURE

Cardinal Mercier's Views on Election of Successor to Late Pope Benedict

ROME, Jan. 30. (By Associated Press.)—The next pope is certain to be an Italian, according to a statement made yesterday by Cardinal Mercier, primate of Belgium, to the Associated Press.

"There is no need to indulge in vain conjectures or to count the votes in advance," said the cardinal, "but one must wait the decree of Providence, and Providence for the past five centuries has ruled that the supreme pontiff should be an Italian."

"The distinguished Belgian prelate did not concur in the opinion that has been freely expressed in Vatican circles that 'never has a foreign cardinal had such a chance of being elected pope.'"

"It is against all tradition that a foreigner should be elected," said the cardinal. "The next pope certainly will be an Italian."

Talk of Self "Preposterous"

It was suggested that the last foreign cardinal raised to the supreme pontificate was the Archbishop of Liege. "Undoubtedly you have heard your eminence, that the name of another Belgian cardinal is being prominently mentioned for the coming conclave," it was added.

"O, you must not think of that," replied Cardinal Mercier. "You must not believe it. It is preposterous. I never thought of that before. Providence will decide."

"Pardon your enemies," said the cardinal in response to a query whether he favored closer relations between the Vatican and the Quirinal, according to the policy of Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, or whether he was one of the irreconcilables on the side of Cardinal Merry Del Val.

"The Lord's Prayer," the cardinal added, "says, 'Forgive us as we forgive those who trespass against us.' The present does not seem a favorable moment for reaction. Perhaps after all, it is possible for the world to live in peace, and friendliness with one another."

The correspondent asked the cardinal whether in his opinion the Lord's prayer he included Belgium's late war enemies, which also must be forgiven.

"The Lord does not appear to have made any distinction," replied the cardinal. "He simply says, 'Forgive those who have trespassed against us.'"

Then, after a pause, the cardinal's face took a serious expression. "Yes," he said, "I am sure that includes our late enemies."

With reference to the Americans attending the conclave, Cardinal Mercier thought that Cardinal O'Connell might arrive in time, but that the chances of Cardinal Dougherty were very slim, unless the session was a lengthy one.

Cardinal Mercier has received many messages from the United States concerning the health of the conclave, and is annoyed at the report of his illness and said yesterday that he never felt better.

Throughout his talk he referred to America in the most endearing terms, exclaiming, "The great American nation—a great people. How many good friends I have made there."

Say Three or Four Ballots

The new pontiff will be elected by Saturday next, according to the consensus of opinion as expressed by the prelates arriving here with the cardinal attached to the conclave; they expect that the decision will be reached on the third or fourth ballot.

"I do not anticipate a sharply drawn contest, which some predict," said a prominent English ecclesiastic yesterday. "Although there are naturally divergent views among the cardinals, these differences are not irreconcilable, and I am confident that the Sacred College will be able to agree upon the successor of Benedict in a relatively short time."

American and English church dignitaries consider it a certainty that the choice will fall upon an Italian. They believe that the best chance lies with Cardinals Bassi, Ratti, Lega and La Fontaine.

A prominent English prelate, who asked that his name be withheld declared it would be a great mistake to elect a foreign cardinal, as that would lead to disappointed hopes and dissension among countries like the United States, Great Britain and France, all of whom probably felt that they merited high office, whereas the selection of an Italian would be acceptable to all.

Found Frozen to Death in Shack

HAVERSTRAW, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Charles Degraff, old and shabbily dressed, was found frozen to death in a shack on the outskirts of Haverstraw yesterday. Little children of the town always thought he was a penniless tramp, but his bankbooks showed he had $4000. The coroner found $120 in the old man's pockets.

Captured After Gun Fight; Held in $10,000

LYNN, Jan. 30.—Sherman Morris, alias Samuel A. Robinson, who was arrested last Saturday night after he had taken diamond rings valued at $3850 from two jewelry store windows, which he broke, waived examination when arraigned today on charges of breaking, entering and larceny. He was held in $10,000 bail for the superior court. Morris was captured after a running gun fight with the police, and all the rings except one, valued at $800, were found in his possession.

Denies Motion of Boddy's Counsel

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel today denied a motion to declare a mistrial in the case of Luther Boddy, negro, on trial for first degree murder for the slaying of two detectives. Boddy's counsel filed the motion Friday, claiming that admission of rebuttal testimony by Patrolman Jasper Rhodes, to the effect that Boddy had shot him four times on Dec. 19 was prejudicial to Boddy's interests.

Would Accept Shantung Proposal

PEKIN, Jan. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—The government is understood to hold that the final Shantung proposal at the Washington conference as framed by the British and American delegates, should be accepted.

While it was felt to be important that the problems of the port of Kiao-Chow should also be adjusted, it was realized that this could not be done without a settlement of the Shantung railway question and that, therefore, it was unwise to refuse the proffered adjustment.

A refusal, it was realized, might alienate the English-speaking nations, who were considered in government circles as likely to hold China unreasonably, to the detriment of their future relations with her.

Charged With Attempt to Kill Step-Son

BRISTOL, R. I., Jan. 30.—The case of Mrs. Ruth J. McCaw, charged with assault with intent to kill her step-son, Leon E. McCaw, on Dec. 20 last, was continued to Feb. 13 in district court today. Mrs. McCaw, the authorities allege, attempted to do away with the youth with poison administered through food and medicine.

A report on the chemical analysis of the vital organs of Elsie B. McCaw, a step-daughter, whose body was examined a month ago, is expected this week. The analysis was made to determine whether the girl had died of poisoning.

Former Policeman Ends Life With Rifle

FITCHBURG, Jan. 30.—Henry R. Behrens, 73, formerly a policeman, proprietor of a wood working shop at 55 Water street, killed himself early today by blowing his head off with a rifle. In a note he said: "All men lied to him." Another apologized to his customers for the "sudden termination of business."

Barbers Strike at Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 30.—About 50 union barbers employed in 20 shops quite work today following failure to agree with the employers concerning overtime work and commissions. The employers turned in their union cards at labor headquarters and announced that they operate open shops. The journeymen have, it is said, declined an offer of the employers to arbitrate the differences.

Colclave Meets Thursday

For the performance of the ceremonies, and the dress and deportment of those participating in them. It has been prescribed that all prelates excepting cardinals will wear black vestments.

All those who will remain within the Vatican when its doors are bolted at the beginning of the election, have been summoned to meet in the Sistine Chapel, Regia, adjacent to the Sistine Chapel, for the duration of the sittings, and the Sacred College has appointed a commission to examine the credentials of all the members, attaches and secretaries. This commission is also charged with selecting guards for the conclave and the appointment of barbers, plumbers, plasterers, carpenters and such other workmen and attendants as may be by chance needed before the doors are again opened to the world.

The whole section of the Sistine Chapel included in the records has been fitted with a platform on which the aulic for the cardinals are placed. There are covered with delicately embroidered tapestry in finely executed designs and with pleasing harmony of color. An altar is placed against the north mural painting of Michael Angelo's "Last Judgment," and on the altar are six great silver candlesticks.

In the center of the platform there is an improvised tomb at which absolution will be given after the three solemn requiem masses.

Felice Chigi, marshal of the conclave, complying with the rites of the ceremonial in announcing his orders, always enumerates his full title, which is "Prince Lodovico Chigi Albani della Rovere, perpetual marshal of the Holy Church, custodian of the conclave, noble Roman, conscript prince of the Holy Roman empire, prince of the Papal States, Duke of Cambrano, Duke of Melfino and Pescara, Duke of Segno, Count of Caserta, Count of Oleggio, Lord of Genoa, of Veneto, of Orders, etc."

Scene of Unusual Pomp

The solemn requiem mass in the Sistine chapel this morning, furnished a scene of unusual pomp, with all the cardinals who have arrived in Rome participating. The noble guards acted as guard of honor for the improvised tomb of the late pontiff, and the Swiss guards composed the escort of honor for the solemn procession of cardinals, archbishops and bishops as they came from the Sala Regia through the Sala Ducale to the chapel.

The tomb, erected in the center of the chapel, was octagonal in shape, with a copious array of candles burning on all sides and up to its summit, on which reposed a replica of the pontifical hat, resting on a red plush cushion. Two sides of the octagon were adorned with the pontifical arms and the others with phrases eulogizing the life of Benedict XV. The Sistine choir assisted in the solemn ceremony.

BIG GAMBLING RAID IN WESTFIELD

WESTFIELD, Jan. 30.—A squad of police broke up the biggest gambling game in the city's history yesterday morning, when they visited Bohemian hall, Meadow street. More than 100 men were on the premises when the officers entered. They tied in all directions. The names of half of them were secured by the police. They will appear before the district court today, charged with being present at a game on the Lord's Day.

Lowell Caledonians Observe 163d Anniversary of Scotland's National Poet

Lowell Caledonians celebrated the 163d anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, Scotland's national poet, Saturday evening, with a fine supper and entertainment. Rev. James M. Craig being the principal speaker of the evening. Scottish songs were sung and dances given.

Samuel Scott opened the post-prandial exercises and introduced First Chieftain William Ross as toastmaster. The program included songs by Miss A. Doolie, Miss J. Smith and John Morris, accompanied by Miss Greta Russell; readings, Mrs. George Clegg and John Turnbull; Scotch character dances, Isabel Morris; bagpipe selections, Chief Scott and Harry Thompson; George Clegg played for the dance.

The supper committee included Mrs. Annie Johnson, chairman; Mrs. Phelps, Mrs. W. Ross, Mrs. J. Silver and the Misses Clark, Russell, Ross, Gillespie, Adams, Turnbull, Angus, Porter and Wylie. The entertainment was arranged by Mrs. Jennie MacGowan, chairman, and Marion Clark, Sam Johnston, Jack Silver and James G. MacGowan. The entertainment closed with "Auld Lang Syne."

COPENHAGEN BANK IN DIFFICULTIES

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 30. (By the Associated Press.)—The Copenhagen Diskontbank and Revisionsbank, with a share capital of 1,000,000 kroner, is in difficulties, having 100,000 kroner in losses. The bank is a weak concern with large holdings of German marks. The minister of finance met the directors of the other Copenhagen banks yesterday, to consider joint action to guarantee the depositors from loss.

Investigation showed that the bank had lost 1,000,000 kroner. The directors of the other banks agreed to continue the institution on condition that its share capital be reduced from 1,000,000 to 250,000 kroner and its reserve fund from 1,000,000 to 250,000 kroner.

The Danish National bank will guarantee a new share emission of 1,000,000 kroner, deemed necessary to cover the balance of the 500,000 kroner lost. In banking circles, it is believed that these measures will result in the Diskontbank's reversion to a sound foundation.

SAVES WIFE AND CHILDREN FROM FIRE

REVERE, Jan. 30.—The house of John P. Grant at 63 Walnut street, North Revere, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The building, a 2½-story wooden structure, was occupied by Grant, his wife and their four children.

About 3 o'clock Grant was awakened by smoking smoke that filled his room. He attempted to go downstairs, but found that the first floor was ablaze. He succeeded in getting his family out through a window, and then sounded an alarm.

North Revere, a long way from the center of city and rather isolated, is difficult to reach, and by the time the firemen arrived the house was doomed to destruction.

WORST BLIZZARD IN YEARS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 30.—Atlantic City was receiving today from one of the worst blizzards, it has experienced in years. Snow drifts three feet deep were piled in places and for time practice for all traffic by automobiles, rail and trolley was suspended.

Service has been restored on the steam and trolley systems, however, and trains are moving in and out of the city.

He has promised to appear at Fargo, N. D., on February 6, to answer a charge of conspiracy in the alleged embezzlement of $3000 by J. J. Hastings from the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo, Hastings, a former officer of the bank, which is now closed, is being sought at Seattle.

INVESTIGATION OF SALE OF ALIEN PROPERTY

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—The scope of the department of justice investigation of the sale in 1913 of the Bosch Magneto Co., an alien property to the American Bosch Magneto Co., was learned today, coincident with the arrival here of Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, with government records of the transfer. The documents were discussed at a conference of federal attorneys held with a view to preparing the information contained in them for presentation to a federal grand jury.

Officials indicated that the investigation would follow three main channels. The first of these is the sale of the Bosch Magneto Co., by A. Mitchell Palmer as alien property custodian, to Martin E. Kern. In this connection, it was said, the question of Kern's citizenship at the time of the transfer probably would be touched upon.

The government is also interested, officials said, in looking into the Bosch Co.'s contracts with the army air service, involving $420,000. The third phase under investigation, it was said, involved income tax returns filed by the company. Internal Revenue agents are understood to be checking up these returns.

The records brought by Mr. Miller were gone over at a conference attended by United States Attorney Robert O. Harris of this district, Assistant Federal Attorney John E. Joyce of New York and Mr. Miller. The federal grand jury here which started consideration of the case last week is due to come in to do tomorrow or Wednesday. Whether it will complete the case, or grand juries at Washington, or New York will begin it, is still uncertain.

The question of jurisdiction was to be discussed further, officials said.

Mr. Miller was accompanied to the conference by former Congressman William W. Wilson, of the Third Illinois district as special litigation counsel for the alien property custodian; and Paul Smith, chief of the corporation management division of the custodian; and Paul Smith, chief of the corporation management division of the custodian's office.

Mr. Miller said he appeared at the

MECCA FOR THE THIRSTY

Bimini Isle, Where Ponce de Leon Sought "Fountain of Youth" Rolls in Gold

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 30.—Federal prohibition officials here, interested in Bimini, the small British island forty miles east of Miami, which since the outlawing of John Barleycorn by the United States has become a mecca for those whose thirst was not quenched by the Eighteenth amendment and which also is said to be the source of much of the liquor smuggled into this country, have ascertained that Bimini was supposed to have been the site of the "fountain of youth" of which Ponce de Leon was in search when he discovered Florida.

Bimini is not a recently established institution. It has developed, for more than four hundred years ago it figured in the news reports of the day by that name. Ponce de Leon heard of it while in Porto Rico in 1512, having been told by the Indians there of an island called Bimini, where there was much gold and a treasure even more precious than gold—a fountain whose waters would make young forever all mortals who should drink of it. As one chronicler puts it:

Ponce de Leon hited out three small vessels at his own expense to go in search of the fountain. He left to the present generation the discovery of the gold and potent waters, however, for after cruising about the Bahamas during the winter of 1513 without sighting the island he heard there was land in the northwest, steered in that direction and on Easter Sunday, March 27, landed on the beach a few miles north of where St. Augustine now stands.

Prohibition officials credit the Indians of Porto Rico with having known what they were talking about when they told Ponce de Leon what he would find at Bimini.

"Bimini is running over with gold these days," said one official, "and it is certain from the experience we have had with liquor runners the last year or two that the marvelous waters of the fountain still flow freely."

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to dery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.—Adv.

SENATOR REED'S ELOQUENCE

Owing to his engagement as counsel for District Attorney Feltner in the proceedings brought by the attorney general, Senator Reed of Missouri had been absent from the senate much of the time during which the case of Newberry was under discussion.

He went to Washington, however, to vote against seating Newberry, but he did not have the time to fight the majority plan to seat Newberry inch by inch; and it would have been unavailing if he did, for the reason that the republican leaders were determined to seat the Michigan candidate. But it was not supposed that while voting to seat Newberry, the senators would at the same time adopt a resolution condemning the excessive use of money as used in behalf of Newberry as a menace to representative government and an insult to the senate, yet vote to seat Newberry, the man at the bottom of it all.

The slashing administered to the republicans who voted to seat Newberry was the most severe ever heard in the senate. It would be difficult to imagine anything more severely salacious.

"Unhappily say that in all the annals of the legislative bodies that have ever existed upon the face of the earth there never has been so shameless a revolution adopted; there never has been so bold a publication of the infamy of those who voted for the resolution."

"There is not a man who voted for this resolution who did not brand in red letters above and over and across his political record the word 'dishonor.'"

In the course of his speech he suggested a new word to express the stupidity shown by the denouncing a crime as wrong and then rallying it. Reed is beyond question one of the greatest masters of invective in the senate. The senator or the party that draws his fire will keenly feel the thrusts of his sharp and shining oratorical rapier.

He displayed this power in his argument in the Pelletier case and whether in this he wins or loses, it cannot be denied that Senator Reed put up a wonderful defense.

It would not be surprising to find Reed put forward as a candidate for president in 1924. He is a staunch democrat, and an able statesman of long and varied experience.

WILSON'S REMOVAL

Harold D. Wilson, prohibition enforcement supervisor, is fired and a Prohibition man, James P. Roberts, has been appointed to his place. The reasons given for the removal of Wilson differ very widely from those put forth by Mr. Wilson. It is supposed, however, that Commissioner Blair has a more distinct and definite knowledge of the facts than has Wilson, his subordinate. One of these is incompatibility or inability to get along with his superior officers and an extraordinary itching for publicity.

Wilson wanted to back in the limelight in a manner that was not at all agreeable to his superiors. Furthermore, he seemed to forget that the prohibition law, according to the 18th amendment, is to be enforced by concurrent action by the federal and state authorities.

Commissioner Blair takes pains to make it clear that Senator Lodge had nothing whatever to do with the removal of Wilson, but that on the contrary, he wanted him retained. The leaders seem to be afraid that Wilson, in line with his appeals to the public, might prove a dangerous political enemy if he should launch an attack against Senator Lodge, especially when the latter comes before the voters for re-election.

TOWNLEY AGAIN

Some time ago certain western states were carried away politically and sentimentally by a man named Townley, known as president of the "National Non-Partisan League." Great newspapers and magazines sent representatives to the middle west to interview this curiosity and spread the glorious views of a scheme he had in mind to further the interests of the brotherhood of man. The Townley legends grew apace and upon all old-time political parties in the immediate cities and towns where the new idea spread like a contagion.

Townley was exhibited as the one man in America who could save the nation of our fathers from utter ruin. The Townley non-partisan league was about to rescue the ravished farmers and others from the baleful influence of the money kings. Townley's name was blown on high in the great rural districts where he won a host of followers by simply going the Chautauque rounds and exhibiting his wonderful and magnetic powers. Today the Townley of former prestige and magnetic languishes in the Jackson, Minn., jail, where he is serving a ninety-day sentence for conviction on a charge of violating the state espionage law. And on the day he secures his release a stalwart officer of the law is to appear at the front door of the Jackson jail and serve another warrant on Townley this time charging him with implication in the alleged embezzlement of $3,000 in funds from the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo, North Dakota.

Such is fame and such is the fate of a man of strange influence who one time threatened to sweep the western section of the country into his political party with promises of fighting all wrongs and saving the people from impending disaster. The Townley forces have not been heard from very much of late, and we have no doubt that Townley will "die hard."

NELLIE BLY

Nellie Bly, newspaper woman, who some time ago achieved fame by a spectacular trip around the world in record time, is dead in a New York hospital. This passes a woman whose name once rang around the globe for a plucky performance that brought her many admirers and a great deal of notoriety.

Her world-circling trip was made for a great New York newspaper, to prove or disprove the possibility of Jules Verne's imaginative story, "Around the World in Eighty Days." She went Verne more than seven days better, by finishing the circuit in a little more than 72½ days. Of course it is a thing time figured on present modes of rapid transit. The airplane can do it in a much shorter time, but in the old days, it was a record-breaking stunt, and will, of course, be ever memorable as the achievement of a woman.

In private life, Nellie Bly was Mrs. Elizabeth C. Seaman. She essayed in recent years to fill a newspaper berth with her facile pen, but of that little need be said. It was "heart problem" stuff for young women and "poor working girls" of the hand poured out by certain large newspapers of the country that appear to deal in that material principally as circulation builders. She was not a writer of distinction, although nimble with her pen or typewriter if indeed she ever learned to operate the keyboard. The world-traveler attained a ripe old age, and she was a joy to all newspapermen wherever she happened to be, being a splendid conversationalist, quick witted and remarkable in many other ways. She typified the woman who dares to do things that have been regarded as fit only for men.

Apparently Sir James Craig and Michael Collins are making progress toward a united Ireland. In that they will have very general support from the people throughout the country.

MAKE IT A RECORD BREAKER

In view of the prevailing distress due to unemployment, unusual steps should be taken to make the tag day arranged for next Saturday a magnificent success. We believe that in this case the usual plan of running a tag day should be departed from so as to offer an opportunity for the contribution of bills by those who feel disposed to be generous. Indeed it might be a good idea to open headquarters at which contributions would be received in advance of the tag day.

There is deep sympathy for the unemployed throughout the city and hence we believe many who can afford to contribute would freely do so in order to add a cause so worthy. The location of better times has not yet been verified to the extent of greatly increasing the employment, although it is confidently hoped that the spring will bring a very material improvement.

The amount received next Saturday through the tag day, will indicate the sympathy of those who are employed for those who are not, but the collections should not be confined to nickels, dimes and quarters. The "tag" ladies should have collection boxes suitable for the receipt of bills and half dollars. Meantime, the committee in charge should appoint a treasurer to receive contributions to swell the fund for the needy unemployed.

An appeal to public sympathy in such cases would surely bring a generous response.

MR. HEARST'S AMBITIONS

From New York comes word that Hearst, not content with previous overwhelming defeats in national campaign contests for office, is once more in the running, and this time will be content with either the New York governorship or a United States senator's berth from the Empire state.

His alleged desires are recorded freely in some of the New York press, but of course Hearst himself is not saying a word yet, although he claims to "print all the news." Up state in New York, Hearst agents, highly paid and active, are said to be running riot, rounding up old-time Hearst henchmen and securing their names to party organization papers. Down in the big city, Charles P. Murphy and his Tammany Hall braves are said to be lining up quietly under the Hearstian banner, with indications that Mayor Hylan, too, will be in the list of Hearst supporters when the time comes for the opportune time to move.

Hearst's millions have done much politically for many years, although he has never yet obtained the high preferment to which he aspired.

The old line democrats of that great state do not approve of the Hearst ambitions. They declare that he has no claims on straight democracy. They point to his changing colors year in and year out, his desertion of the democratic altars for more than one occasion and his return again to the ranks when he found it profitable to do so. The democratic "regulars," proud of the campaigns that made Cleveland and Wilson presidents, and elected many able democratic senators and governors, are inclined to look askance upon the latest move on the part of Mr. Hearst to start through devious underground channels once again for some sort of political office.

It is alleged that all his life, the New York publisher-silver mine millionaire has aspired to the presidency of the United States. He has that right, of course, and his move to secure a lesser office first may be but a step in that direction.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Once again I have been reminded of the fact that the birds and small animals are suffering from this cold spell. People are requested to toss a few crumbs to the birds at least once a day. English sparrows are regarded by many as nuisances, but the fact remains that among God's creatures and are entitled to the same as larger animals and birds that are able to successfully combat the cold weather. When the weather is not so cold as it has been during the past few days, the noontime thaw generally gives the birds a chance to scratch up a few morsels of food. It is not a pleasant sight to see little birds dead on the snow for lack of food.

My neighbor and nimble paragrapher, "As She Sees It," referred last Friday to a somewhat successful way to keep the children from the grass. The "old-fashioned" farmhouses with only a few acres to depend on for winter food, were not so much interested in the old-time way of living, which can be found almost anywhere and in any Middlesex county town. But I must differ from my friend across the street for her evident intention to class all old-fashioned farmhouses in the ranks of the frigid place.

I happen to know farmhouses pretty well, and I know how well most of them are heated in the winter months. Not only is the average old-fashioned farmhouse one of the warmest places on the map on the very coldest days of winter, but a good many old-fashioned farmhouses are now heated with furnace steam heat, or that now fashioned "one register" heating apparatus that shoots copious quantities of heat up into the hallways and all through the lower and upper rooms in quite commendable style.

I am not talking, understood, about the old-fashioned farm with a few holes where the wintry drafts blow in freely, but of the average farmhouse you find in every village and township. You may visit any season of the year, and I can assure you that the thermometer is down below the zero mark, I had rather be seated in a modern farmer's "sitting room," or even the kitchen, with the stoves radiating with radiant heat from good hard oak or chestnut wood heat, or coal, than the case might be than to be stranded in some Lowell furnished room that I could name, and shiver as I am told many have shivered here this winter.

I may go a little farther and remind my entertaining friend across the way that his own paternal home is in the country, in a little village not more than 13 miles from the city. And there is a mother there of the old-fashioned sort, and plenty of rooms in the old colonial mansion (sic) that has been my home. And sometime, when the daily tasks of news-gathering grow too tiresome, and the hours tedious and long, I am going to ask the writer whose views differ to "As She Sees It" to journey out to this little Middlesex county town some nice cold day when the thermometer is registering zero or thereabouts, and sit down in the old-fashioned parlor or study of a home and enjoy a comfortable blazing log in a huge fireplace and additional warmth from one of the best old Franklin stoves that ever was built to exude heat and torridity in the merry battle against cold waves and January drafts! I should then expect "As She Sees It" to make amends, and I know the pen that writes so pointedly and so enjoyed by even those who suffer from the blinks of criticism occasionally, will yield gracefully to an inevitable truth when proved by ocular demonstration.

From the start made by the Lowell "Ad" club it appears that this new organization is going to be very much interested in the most interesting thing shown by the numerous members who have attended the meetings. There is a movement on foot at the present time to change the name of the club to one that would be more general. A series of lectures is being arranged which will include talks by some of the best known advertising people in New England. I am told this club gives promise of accomplishing a very important work.

The industrial show season seems to have come and gone. I noticed that we had at least three good black-face performances during the past week. First came the Father Matthew show and then the Y.M.C.A. and Knights of Columbus. All these shows brought out most of the local amateur talent and at the same time served as "first nights" for a number of our coming attractions. The shows were well attended by the fact that all played to packed houses.

JOINT INSTALLATION

A joint installation of the officers of Dorcas Temple, 12, Pythian Sisters and Samuel 11, Hines lodge, 6, Knights of Pythias took place Saturday evening in the Pythian hall. The ceremonies were public and were largely attended. In the early part of the evening supper was served by the entertainment committee, which is composed as follows: Charles Pettigrew, A. D. Buina, W. E. Phelps, P. D. Millet and P. V. French. The supper was followed by social hour during which a delightful exhibition of floor work was given by the sisters' degree staff in charge of Dr. Frank Whipple.

The installation of the officers of the Pythian sisters was then conducted by Deputy Grand Chief, Nettie F. Akers, Mother, assisted by G. S. Winnie, Patter, G. J. Amelia Wells, G. M. Anna Smith G.M.R.C. Mary, Berla, G.M.R. Cora Richardson, G.P. Blau Dowling, G.O.T. Etta Palmer, G.P.C. Mary Stevens, all past chiefs of lodge 12, Gals. temple of Lawrence. The officers inducted into office were as follows: Emily George, past chief; Alice Joy, M.E.C. Gladys Whiting, B.S.; Mary O'Neil, B.J.; Venus Young, M.; Cora F. Glidden, M.L., and C. Mabel A. Dumps, M. P.; Amy P. Farley, P. of T., and Dora Jordan, G.T.

The following officers of Samuel 11, Hines lodge were then installed by Deputy Grand Chancellor Herbert A. Brimmer, assisted by G.V.C. Ernest P. Heald, G.K.R.S. Harry R. Lawrence, Grand V.C. of Massachusetts; G.P. William G. Topham, G.M.A.B. William Miller, all members of Black Prince lodge. The officers inducted into office were as follows: Carl Davidson, V.C. Walter Long, P. Fred W. Ireland, M. Robert J. Fullerton, K.L.V.S., Wallace M. Langell, M.T. Alvan E. Joy, M.E., George W. Chaput, M.A., Norman C. Kynd, J.G., and Charles Dane, O.G.

During the installation of the officers, the local church choir sang hymns were conducted by five little girls, who entered the hall drawing a flower decorated wagon filled with bouquets, which were later distributed to the officers. Those who took part in these ceremonies were Genevieve Young, Virginia Burns, Gladys Little, Evelyn Irons and Dorothy Wickham. There were interesting remarks by Deputy Grand Chancellor Brimmer and the evening's program was brought to a close with concert numbers by an orchestra.

WANT PASTOR ASSIGNED
At a meeting of the so-called liberal wing of the local Greek community held Saturday afternoon in the quarters of the liberal club in Market st., it was voted to request Bishop Rodas to assign a pastor to the church. The members of the organizations were also urged to keep away from the polls on election day when the annual election of officers for the church is held. The meeting was presided over by Dr. Demosthenes J. General.

FINAL REGISTRATION SESSION
The final registration session prior to the annual town meeting of Billerica was held Saturday by the registrars. The session was held in the Centre town hall and during the day 107 names were added to the voters' list, making a total registration of 177 for the year. The total registration of the town is as follows: Precinct 1—males, 491; females, 335. Precinct 2—males, 647; females, 429. The total registration is as follows: Precinct 1, 838; Precinct 2, 1,076.

Left Babe to Die
Cortland Bleeker was talking at Tipling Jack about a young man who, having gone through his fortune committed suicide in Japan. "Poor Jack!" he said, "Jack always was a bad egg, but nobody seemed to notice it until he was rich." Bleeker smiled philosophically. "In other words," he said, "he was all right till he was broke."

The Jury Dodgers
No one has a right to complain of anything connected with the enforcement of the criminal law unless he is willing to do jury duty. The criminal courts of Lowell are in New York, by Judge Alfred J. Talley. The loudest complainers about "the crime wave" usually are jury dodgers. They yell, "Plea," but refuse to help put the first out, though they have the best and often the only buckles.

Might Have Been Worse
"Pretty bad the you had here last night," commented the recently arrived guest. "Eh, eh," replied the landlord of the Peluma Tavern. The five company had it pretty nearly out, and then the mayor came and took personal charge of the conflagration, and yelled orders till he got the firemen so mixed up that they couldn't do anything. And to reckon if it hadn't been for the firemen, the whole downtown town would have been incinerated. But I suppose it might have been worse. "Why, the governor or a congressman might have come and look charge instead of the mayor, and it might not have minded."

MAN ABOUT TOWN
Once again I have been reminded of the fact that the birds and small animals are suffering from this cold spell. People are requested to toss a few crumbs to the birds at least once a day. English sparrows are regarded by many as nuisances, but the fact remains that among God's creatures and are entitled to the same as larger animals and birds that are able to successfully combat the cold weather. When the weather is not so cold as it has been during the past few days, the noontime thaw generally gives the birds a chance to scratch up a few morsels of food. It is not a pleasant sight to see little birds dead on the snow for lack of food.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Henry's Melody Sextet, which will be the leading attraction of the present week's bill at the R. P. Keith theatre, is a group of girls, six clever chorists, who fascinate because of their attractive graces, their musical and vocal accomplishments. These young women were selected with an eye of bringing to vaudeville an excellent act of women, and the idea has been carried out very successfully. Each of the six is an artist who might easily gain public approval without the assistance of the others. In other words Henry's Melody Sextet is not merely an ensemble but of a company of six soloists. The cause the prime factor has been the ability of the girls. Good fortune played well her part because the girls are all attractive and charming.

"Working for the Railroad" is an interesting title for an interesting sketch which is put on by Glenn and George, the duo of the best comedians to be found in the theatre today, and it shows two negro porters arguing and agreeing, enjoying and disagreeing, and in the end, the two of them are good to the hilt.

Willard Mack, which is played by Joseph B. Bernard, assisted by Miss Inez Ragan, is something of the eternal triangle, but it is a little different. It is that will prove to be distinctive. Willard Mack can write those things, and make them different and he has done so with this act.

Millicent Mower will give audiences a taste of the way that Tetrazzini, Burras, Gaskill, Gaskill, and Humpel sing some of their grand opera arias. It is a wonderfully fascinating act. The Three Webber Girls sing and dance, and the three of them will have a good time. The three of them will have a good time. The three of them will have a good time.

Following in the steps of Mac Murray, Marion Davies, Myrtle, Mansfield, and most of other Ziegfeld Follies comedians, the three of them will have a good time. The three of them will have a good time. The three of them will have a good time.

STARTER MURPHY IS BACK ON THE JOB AGAIN

Starter Mike Murphy is back!

One of the daily perpetual motion machines of Merrimack square, who has been missing about two weeks, is on the job again today with all his working tools and everything. News of Murphy's absence, floated around quickly one day when a blue uniformed gentleman in a thick fur coat and armed with a long iron bar and deep-throated voice strode out into the square and began to issue the latest news to motormen and conductors. It wasn't Starter Mike Murphy, for Starter Mike was listed among the missing.

The mystery of the regular official's disappearance has been explained. For the past 16 or 18 days and nights, the popular street-railwayman has been staying at home hugging the old Crawford in the kitchen and nursing the toughest sort of a January cold and several other health irregularities such as headaches, sore throat and aching limbs.

"Just another case of a hard winter," the starter explained today as he reported for work early. He admitted that he had a raw deal in the health line, but the old fat was kept heated in good shape, and Mrs. Murphy kept tabs so the starter wouldn't sit in any drafts when the mercury were down below the zero line.

As a result of his temporary rest from strenuous duties and good home care, Starter Murphy was able to report this morning about six pounds heavier in weight, appetite excellent and prospects O.K. for another week at street railroad under the usual conditions mapped out on the Merrimack square car schedules.

But it was a tough job getting rid of that January gang of germs that laid him off for repairs.

CONG. SMITHWICK

DESCRIBES DISASTER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—An avalanche of broken plaster, bricks, snow, splintered wooden and twisted steel beams catapulting upon the audience while the orchestra played and a comedy film ground out, is the description of the Knickerbocker theatre disaster given yesterday by Representative John H. Smithwick of Pennsylvania. He was in the balcony of the theatre when the roof collapsed under its weight of snow, and escaped unhurt—just how, he cannot recall—with more or less serious hurts.

"The orchestra was playing beautiful music and a comedy film was running," said Mr. Smithwick, lying in his bed bandaged and with his face and hands covered with cuts. "Suddenly there was a sharp crack. I looked up and saw a great fissure running across the ceiling. It was right over my head. I instantly realized what was happening. The disaster began to fall, dropping down in large chunks all over the theatre. It seemed to me, while I was looking up a great piece right over my head started to fall. I ducked, crouching involuntarily I suppose, down between the seats. The piece struck the seat right where I had been sitting.

"The noise was awful. It was a great, tremendous roar. It was simply indescribable. I can never forget it."

"In the midst of the roaring were shrieks and cries of women and children and a few shouts of men. There were cries for help, groans and, worst of all, the moans of those in terrible pain."

"There were only a few of us in the balcony. The balcony gave way and crashed, soon after the ceiling began to fall, on the lower floor. They were caught the worse. We in the balcony were more fortunate."

"I guess there was a lapse of maybe 20 seconds, hardly more, before the balcony fell."

"I don't know how I got out from chunks of plaster that had fallen on me. I feel I believe it weighed all of 500 pounds, and I think I moved that plaster with my shoulders."

Representative Smithwick, who lives about a block from the theatre, said he staggered home without overcoat or hat through the snow drifts. Physicians were summoned immediately, who found him suffering from shock, bruises and probably internal injuries.

"I think it was a miracle that I came out alive," said the Florida congressman. "But think of those poor children and men and women who were not so fortunate. I don't see how any who were under that balcony escaped. If those below could have seen the ceiling breaking they would have had time to rush out through the doors, but I guess they couldn't see as we could in the balcony."

REHEATING

Quite the best way to keep a meal warm for a late comer is to put the slices of meat, the vegetables and potatoes in a flat pan and then put the pan in a larger basin of boiling water. Gravy would be wanted immediately before the tray comes to the table.

"RUNAWAY FEATHERS"

THE GREEN SHOES

What do you think Nancy and Nick would when they reached the little house?

"The green shoes? Yes, there they were, and beside them, smiling out of his funny blue eyes was the magical mushroom."

"I thought I'd fool you a bit this time," he said. "I wondered if you had enough perseverance to climb when you didn't find the shoes on the ground."

"You're ever so nice, Mr. Mushroom," said Nancy. "We're allowed to climb now, since daddy nailed the house all nice and tight and put in some new boards. When we told him that it wasn't a home at all, but a magical elevator that went up into the sky among the clouds, and even up to the stars sometimes, he said he thought he'd better stop the leaks or we might fall through."

"Where are you going now?" asked he mushroom.

"Bunskins said that some day he would take us to the Land of Runaway Feathers," answered Nick, "and we hoped he would pick today."

"All right," said a cheery voice, close by, and suddenly Bunskins appeared from nowhere at all. "I'm ready. Want to come along, Mr. Mushroom?"

"The mushroom said he'd be glad to, having a few minutes to spare from the fairy queen's work."

Bunskins moved the iron handle, and soon all four were being lifted into the wonderful realm called the "Land of Up-in-the-Air."

"They passed the 'Land of Lost Balloons' and the 'Land of Lost Kites' like the second and third floors in a department store. Then they passed 'Soap Bubble Land' and the 'Land of Everything.' At about No. 6, you might say, they stopped and got out."

"Here we are," said Bunskins. "Welcome to the 'Land of Runaway Feathers.' Here comes Mr. Crampling Crane now. I told him to expect us."

GREAT BRITAIN LAYS DOWN TERMS FOR EGYPT

LONDON, Jan. 30. (By A. P.)—The basis on which the British government would be willing to terminate the Egyptian protectorate, recognizing Egypt as a sovereign state and agree to the establishment of an Egyptian parliament, is announced in a statement officially circulated Saturday evening by the foreign office.

"The high commission in Egypt," says the statement, "has been summoned to England to give full information and advice to His Majesty's government as to the present communications that have been passing between him and the former Egyptian ministers with regard to the future government of the country."

"There appears to be an impression in some quarters that Great Britain has abandoned, or is about to abandon, her liberal attitude toward Egypt."

"While unwilling to cede to disorder or violence what they were prepared to grant on their own merits, His Majesty's government have explicitly stated their readiness to invite parliament to terminate its protectorate, which was declared in 1914, to recognize the existence of Egypt as a sovereign state and to agree to the constitution of an Egyptian parliament and the re-establishment of an Egyptian ministry of foreign affairs as soon as they were satisfied as to the following conditions, which they regard as vital to the interests both of Egypt and the empire."

"They must have full and effective guarantees, first, that the imperial communications, to which Egypt is essential, are assured, and that Great Britain retain both the right and power to afford that protection to the foreign communities in Egypt which the governments of those peoples in the existing conditions look to her to supply; and, third, that Egypt is safeguarded against all foreign interference or aggression, direct or indirect."

"As soon as an agreement satisfactory to these conditions has been drawn up between the Egyptian government and the British government, there will be no hesitation on the part of the latter in inviting parliamentary sanction to such an accord."

"The Adly minister's error in the above dispatch was headed by Adly Yeghen Pasha, former premier of Egypt. After visiting England and discussing the Egyptian situation with the British government, he returned to Egypt and resigned the premiership."

Embodies Many Changes

Continued

It is that the school committee is to be given complete and exclusive authority over the construction, repair and repair of all school buildings, including the appointment of janitors as well as of all other employees in the school department.

Executive Official Only

Under the proposed bill, the superintendent of schools is made merely the executive officer of the school committee, with authority to visit schools as much as he pleases, but in nearly all other matters he will be permitted only to make recommendations to the school committee.

Two industrial bills are assigned for hearing tomorrow, before the committee on legal affairs. Both are labeled bills to regulate the employment of private detectives.

Both are intended to prohibit the alleged practice of employing persons to locate strikers to commit acts of violence during labor troubles. One is a bill for the state branch of the American Federation of Labor and both carry penalties ranging from five to twenty years in prison.

Vacations for Laborers

The committee on cities will consider tomorrow, a bill providing that every laborer employed in any city or town for at least thirty-two weeks in a year, shall be given two weeks' vacation with pay.

Several bills of interest to motorists are on the calendar for hearing tomorrow, before the committee on highways and motor vehicles. Two have to do with actions of the registrar of motor vehicles in revoking or suspending operating licenses. One provides that when a person whose license has been revoked or suspended has been acquitted of the charge that formed the basis of the revocation or suspension, the license shall be immediately restored.

The committee on public works and an assistant attorney-general.

Motor Vehicle Laws

Five recommendations of the department of public works with relation to motor vehicles, will be considered by the committee tomorrow. One of these is that which would require that every motor vehicle be equipped with a device to show from the rear the intention of the operator to stop or to turn to right or left. Another is that no county or other agency, except a city, may build or rebuild a highway bridge without first having the plans approved by the department of public works. A third proposes a revision of the statutory limits upon weight that may be hauled on or by motor trucks; another permits the department to enter upon private land and remove trees or shrubs which constitute an obstruction to view from the highway; and the fifth is a recommendation that an appeal from a decision of the registrar, revoking or suspending a license, shall not operate to stay the ruling.

The committee on legal affairs will consider a bill to include checkers in the class of persons "employed" by a person legally employed in on Sunday.

WHY DO THEY LIKE THIS MAN?

It Is Because He Has the Life and Energy That Red Blood Gives

He has a good color. He is strong and virile, and looks it. He is a good humored. He laughs easily. In short, he is "full of life," which is simply another way of saying he is full of red blood. If you are weak and run-down and nervous, don't sleep very well and have a poor appetite, go to your druggist and buy a few bottles of Gude's Pepto-Mangan and take it for a few weeks at meal-time. See how it will build you up by giving you plenty of good blood. Don't drag around half sick and half well. Get some "pep" into you by taking Pepto-Mangan. Sold in both liquid and tablet form.—Adv.

FOUND WITH THROAT CUT

Grief Over Death of Baron Rosen Believed Responsible for Suicide of Capt. Barber

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Grief over the recent death of Baron Rosen, former Russian ambassador to the United States, was believed to be responsible for the suicide here today of Captain Francis M. Barber, formerly of the United States navy.

The two men had been intimate friends for two score years, and after Baron Rosen's death, Capt. Barber was declared by friends to have been nervous and melancholy.

Capt. Barber was found in a locked wash-room at the University club in Fifth avenue with his throat cut. A razor was clutched in his right hand.

He was born in Ohio, 16 years ago and was graduated from the naval academy at Annapolis in 1895. In 1920 he was naval attaché in Japan and China. His wife died in Switzerland eight years ago.

MAY POSTPONE GENOA ECONOMIC CONFERENCE

LONDON, Jan. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Italian government which has the arrangements for the Genoa economic conference in hand, considers that a slight postponement of the conference may be necessary, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Rome today. This belief, it is indicated, arises from the postponement of the conference at Paris on near eastern questions between the British, French and Italian foreign ministers, originally fixed for Feb. 1.

The postponement of the Paris conference, it is explained, is due to the fact that France has issued a memorandum on the near eastern settlement. This memorandum was declared by Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary and Marquis della Torre, the Italian foreign minister to demand time for examination. The memorandum explained the French viewpoint in reply to the British memorandum sent to Paris and Rome.

SHANTUNG ISSUE STILL BEFORE CONFERENCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(By the Associated Press.) The Shantung issue still remained the big question of the arms conference today. There were indications of increasing pressure being brought to bear for a settlement. There was a possibility that the Japanese and Chinese would come together later in the day to attempt to clear away the remaining points of disagreement.

Meantime the five power naval treaty had been brought one step nearer completion today by the Japanese delegation's receipt of further instructions from Tokyo regarding the Pacific fortifications clause, the one unfinished portion of the treaty. The Japanese government was said to approve definitely the plan of limiting by name the islands to which the agreement against further fortifications shall apply but to have made one or two reservations as to the language of the article, necessitating further discussion.

Final disposal of one of the few remaining far eastern questions also had been brought nearer today by receipts of approval from Rome by the Italian delegation of the proposal to prohibit transportation of arms and ammunition into China.

DISCUSS GERMAN REPARATIONS REPLY

PARIS, Jan. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—The discussion of the German reply on the reparations question was taken up by the reparations commission this morning and the work of preparing the note with which the commission will forward the German document to the allies was begun. It was expected the draft of the forwarding note would be completed before night.

There are more than 100 pages of annexes, statistics, texts of proposed laws etc., submitted by the Germans and other reforms in connection with the reparations settlement.

Irland W. Dodgen, American representative with the commission who has been at Wiesbaden, was expected to arrive in Paris in time to attend the later afternoon deliberations of the commission today.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY OBSERVANCE

Plans Discussed by Delegates From Irish Societies in Hibernian Hall

Motion for Parade Defeated— Delegates Vote to Hold Entertainment

Delegations from 29 local Irish societies met in Albermarle hall yesterday afternoon to form plans for the observance of St. Patrick's day, and after a great amount of discussion finally decided to conduct an entertainment on March 17; the proceeds to go to the particular council, Society

The usual agitation in favor of a parade was a feature of the meeting and the greater part of the afternoon was devoted to this proposition. The argument that on account of the want and distress on all sides precluded the idea of an expensive demonstration was favor, finally, and other means of observance were considered, with the majority in favor of a concert for some charitable purpose. The meeting opened with a roll-call

In opening the annual convention, Chairman O'Sullivan thanked the delegates, showing nearly 200 present, and the election of officers. Chairman James O'Sullivan, Secretary John Barrett and Treasurer Thomas Fitzgerald, the officers of last year's meeting, were unanimously re-elected. The reports of the secretary and treasurer showed that a substantial sum had been realized from last year's concert and entertainment, and sent to the widows and orphans in Ireland.

"Ladies and gentlemen, following the custom of many years you are assembled here this afternoon to determine the most fitting manner in which the coming 11th of March, St. Patrick's day, shall be celebrated. You taxes was called together for this purpose each year since 1867, and these years increasing in numbers all these years until today the largest number of delegates ever assembled is met in this hall this afternoon.

"In all the years that you have met in convention for the purpose of deciding upon the most fitting manner of celebrating St. Patrick's day you were not confronted with a condition like to that which you find existing

"This is as far as I care to discuss the situation; that there is difference of opinion there is little doubt. I think we will all agree to one thing: that it is the business of the Irish people in Ireland to decide what they shall accept and what they will re-

In conclusion, Mr. O'Sullivan said that after all is said and done silence is the part of men and women of the Irish race in America, and that silence will reflect great credit upon them. They have done great work in the past and if similar, unfortunate conditions should arise in the future they will be ready to do as much as they can more. They have done what their conscience said was right, and are willing to abide by the judgment of a mighty God.

Following Mr. O'Sullivan's remarks, Secretary Barrett and Treasurer Fitzgerald expressed their thanks to the convention for the honor done them.

an affair of this nature. He said that it is the time of a parade, and offered a motion that a parade be conducted and a committee of five, three gentlemen and two ladies, be appointed to bring the names of candidates for marching. Many of the delegates spoke on the question, seeming equally divided for and against. Rev. John P. Flynn, D.M.T., spoke at considerable length stating his neutrality, but offering suggestions for the proper conduct of the undertaking should be favored by the convention. Richard J. Lyons of St. Peter's Holy Name society suggested that the parade be conducted on April 10 or July 4. The motion was finally defeated.

Timothy J. Linehan, of the Y.N.C., offered a motion that a committee of five be appointed to conduct an entertainment on St. Patrick's day. If the proceeds to go to the Particular church

Hearing Tomorrow on Measure Defining Duties of School Committees in Cities

Would Make Superintendent Executive Officer Only—Other Hearings Scheduled

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, Jan. 30.—Scheduled for hearing tomorrow morning, before the legislative committee on education, is the bill recommended by the state department of education to define the duties of school committees and of superintendents of schools in cities.

It embodies such a division of authority as has been tried recently in a very few cities in the state, and the results of the trials have been such as to cause the state department to recommend that it be applied to every city.

One of the provisions which will cause a change in policy in many cities.

Federal and Lowell Officers Seize Mammoth Stills and Fifty-One Barrels of Mash

The biggest seizure having to do with equipment used in the manufacture of moonshine was made this afternoon by federal and local officers, who swooped down on the old Sprague farm in South Lowell and took two 125-gallon stills and 51 barrels of mash.

The stills were located in the cellar of the house and were surrounded with the liquor squad.

The only person on the premises at the time of the raid was Morris Stollhoff who gave his address as 168 Grand street, Lowell. He was placed under arrest.

In the raiding party were Acting Superintendent W. C. MacBryna, Sergt. Michael Winn, Officer Sheldon and a number of officers connected with the liquor squad.

Perreault testified that Cooney had followed him into the bar and fought again and took two bottles of liquor from him forcibly in the cafe, between the bar and office. He had bought the liquor for his wife and daughter, who were sick at home, and carried it with him all night because he had instructions from his employer to have a liquor about the premises. He had also received instructions to this effect from his employer's attorney.

Mr. Mulvaney, the proprietor, testified that he had no knowledge of the affair. He was in a club nearby when he was notified that his place was being raided, and he came right away. He saw both bottles of liquor, and was surprised when told they were found on his premises.

Judge Thomas J. Enright said that he had made a ruling that in a case of this sort, involving a place which formerly had a liquor license, the proprietor must share responsibility with the employee. He then ordered a fine of $10 each and commitment to the house of correction for three months.

The civil service commission holds that all men now employed in the division of ash and waste collection, formerly employed by the board of health, are illegal and will remain so until requests for transfer are submitted to the civil service commissioner and records in the latter's office are corrected.

This information came today to City Engineer Stephen Kearney from James E. O'Neil, director of the civil service labor bureau, who wrote in reply to a telephone conversation of a few days ago with Henry Doherty, superintendent of streets. At that time Supt. Doherty requested a list of permanent men legally employed in the department of ash collection.

The civil service commission rules that the division of ash and waste collection is a new department, and therefore, there is no legal list of employees. Former ash and waste collection men were members of the health department and cannot be transferred except on request. Director O'Neil stated that if Supt. Doherty will forward him a list of men he desires to transfer, the civil service list will be corrected. Until that time, however, men at present employed in the ash division are held to be illegal.

Supt. Doherty said today that he did not know exactly what he would do other than to take up the matter with the board of public service and let the board tell him how many men for whom he shall request transfers.

Harding Calls Off White House Reception

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Because "there is so much of grief in Washington today" President Harding today announced postponement of a reception tonight at the White House at which Washington residents of Ohio birth were to meet in observance of the birthday of President McKinley. The president in a letter to Milton E. Ailes, chairman of the arrangements committee, said:

"While I have looked forward with most agreeable anticipation to the reception to be given tonight by the Ohio society, at which we were to meet and happily recall the memory of the late President McKinley, I cannot but feel that we would best answer all our inclinations if the reception were postponed. There is so much of grief in Washington today, so much of sorrow attending the Knickerbocker Theatre disaster, that I should prefer to omit a social affair while Washington is suffering from the great shock."

FRANCE EXTENDS SYMPATHY

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The sympathy of France in the grief which has overtaken Washington, as a result of the Knickerbocker theatre disaster, was extended today by Albert Sarraut, head of the French arms conference delegation, in a message to Secretary Hughes. The message says:

"It is with the most profound sorrow that I have heard the news this morning of the awful accident that has plunged the city of Washington and so many families into mourning. This fearful catastrophe will move France with that deep emotion which is felt when misfortune overtakes one's dearest friends."

HARRISONIA ADDITION

Unfinished Building in Middle Street Leased by Moeller Furniture Co.

It was stated today that the Moeller Furniture Co. of Cambridge had leased the partially constructed addition to the Harrisonia hotel in Middle street, which is owned by the Abbott Construction company of Boston. It is understood that the work of finishing the building will start at once.

The Moeller Co. is the second largest furniture concern in this section of the country. The company has had a large store in Cambridge for a number of years, and will occupy the four stories of the building in Middle street.

ANOTHER NEW POSITION

Inspector of Building Construction Recommended for the Buildings Department

Acting upon the recommendations of a committee of building contractors and building tradesmen, who recently conferred with him, Francis A. Connor, superintendent of public buildings, has written to the budget and audit commission, suggesting that provision be made in the buildings department appropriation for this year for the creation of a new official, to be designated "Inspector of building construction."

The letter states that it is the belief of building men that a real necessity exists for a building construction inspector, but that he must be an expert in his line, competent to figure loads and strength of materials and also be equipped with a practical knowledge of building construction. Such a man would be taken from a civil service list.

The committee that waited upon Supt. Connor included John J. O'Connor, representing building contractors, and Harry Costello and a Mr. Fletcher, representing building tradesmen.

The committee had no criticism whatever of the work of the buildings department, but felt that there should be a development in the city in the matter of building inspection, which would have a tendency to bring the department up to standards set in other cities.

If the budget and audit commission, acting upon the suggestion of the superintendent, makes provision for such an official, it is believed that he would work subordinate to the superintendent in a manner similar to gas piping and elevator inspectors.

MASS FOR LATE POPE

A solemn high mass of requiem for the repose of the soul of the late Pope Benedict XV will be celebrated at Notre Dame de Lourdes church in Branch street tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock.

The committee that waited upon Supt. Connor included John J. O'Connor, representing building contractors, and Harry Costello and a Mr. Fletcher, representing building tradesmen.

Death Toll From Washington Theatre Horror Brought to 108, With 132 on Injured List

Borah Says Powerful Influences Here and Abroad Intend $11,000,000,000 Owed U. S. by Allies Shall Never Be Paid

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The most powerful financial influences in the United States and abroad intend that the eleven billion dollars owed the United States by the allied and associated nations shall never be paid, Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, declared today in the senate. Senator Borah said he was satisfied that if the debt commission was given authority to extend the time of the payment of interest at its discretion, no interest would be paid for five or ten years. The result would be, he added, that the United States would in fact be making additional loans to the debtor nations at an additional cost in taxes to the American people.

Senate Investigation of Disaster Proposed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Investigation of the Knickerbocker Theatre disaster by a senate committee was proposed in a resolution introduced today by Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, a member of the senate District of Columbia committee. Under the rules the resolution was referred to the audits and control committee.

Supporting the resolution, Senator Frelighuysen, republican, New Jersey, said the investigation should be "a widespread one of the entire district government," adding that he knew from personal knowledge that many buildings in Washington were "fire traps" which might at any time cost scores of lives.

Election of Officers by Chamber of Commerce—Edward Fisher Is Chosen President

The old and newly elected members of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce met this noon at a luncheon in the chamber and elected officers for the coming year.

Atty. Edward Fisher, a member of the board of directors for the past year and who still has one year to serve, was elected president. He fills the position made vacant by Harry L. Chaffin, who retired this year.

More L. MacFhie, a newly elected member of the board this year, was chosen first vice president, while Albert D. Miliken, who has still a year to serve, was elected second vice president. Geo. W. Wagner, who does not hold a position on the board, was re-elected treasurer.

One vacancy will have to be filled on the board owing to the resignation of William A. Mitchell, of the Massachusetts mill who resigned, after being elected this year, owing to the pressure of business.

It was voted to accept the membership application of James J. McMahon, and he was voted into the organization.

President Fisher was empowered to appoint a committee of three to be known as the committee on committees which will care for the appointment of other committees during the year.

Two Barges Adrift Off Cape Charles—Liner in After Stormy Voyage

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 30.—The navy fuel ship Arcthusa, helpless off this portion of the coast for several days with a disabled rudder, was adrift again today having broken away during the night from the coast guard cutter Seminole, which had her in tow.

Seventy men are aboard the Arcthusa. The barges McDonald and the Cantonville are adrift in the vicinity of Cape Charles. Both barges have crews of four men each.

The Virginia-Carolina coast is being searched for the power boat Ambrose Seven, which has been reported as missing from Beaufort, N. C. Captain R. H. Kinble, wife and son were aboard.

Limp Into Port

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The van guard of 10 vessels, among them 12 passenger ships, which have been battling the gales on the Atlantic since Saturday, crept into New York today.

The Port Hamilton, of the Furness Bermuda Line, with 127 passengers aboard, docked after one of the stormiest voyages of her history, according to Captain A. R. Francis.

The Clyde liner Comanche reached port three days overdue. She carried 30 passengers, who reported that the storm disabled the ship's steering gear for a time, and flooded passenger cabins.

120-MILE DOG RACE

Snow Packed Notches and Trails of White Mountains Scene of Endurance Test.

BERLIN, N. H., Jan. 30.—The snow-packed notches and trails of the White Mountain country will provide the course, and four teams of huskies will be entered as contenders in a 120-mile dog race beginning next Thursday. The contest, one of speed and endurance, will take three days and will crown with it the eastern champion.

In the running will be dogs of both Canada and the United States, among them one survivor of the team that took Peary to the North Pole and others that are descendants of dogs brought back by the Arctic explorer. From La Boute, on the upper waters of the St. Maurice river, 250 miles northwest of Quebec, Henri Skene will bring his crack team. These dogs are used day in and day out for work in connection with the Indian trading post. From Kenes Indian trading post, near Dersim, 280 miles northeast of Quebec, on the St. Lawrence shore, John Label has already made his mush of 200 miles to Quebec. His team is a combination of the best dogs at his trading post.

To meet these Canadian huskies, two American teams have entered. Arthur T. Walden of Wonalancet, N. H., with a set of six dogs that inherited qualities of stamina and speed from Peary's huskies, has been trying them out over the snow in this state for several weeks, and says he is confident of making fast time.

Jacques Suzanne, an artist and explorer, has had in training at Lake Placid, N. Y., a team of dogs with substitutes that is expected to make the snow fly. Siberians constitute most of his prospective team, but a dog that was with Peary has shown enough of his old qualities to win a place in the traces for the championship race.

The three-day contest will start and finish here, with the average based 72 per cent on speed and 28 per cent on the condition of the dogs.

The daily racing stint will be about 40 miles. For the first day the dogs will be driven to Colebrook, with the overnight stop there. The second night stop will be at Lancaster.

During the run, the contestants will pass through some of the most picturesque spots in the White Mountains, Dixville Notch, the President's Range, North Stratford, Jefferson and Randolph.

The race will be held under the auspices of the Nansen Ski Club, and in connection with a three-day winter sports carnival.

Washington Bowed in Grief

were withdrawn before dawn and soldiers from Fort Myer also began leaving.

All dead and injured had been removed early today from the Christian Science church nearby, a large structure which for more than 36 hours had served as a clearing house for the victims.

No bodies had been taken out of the theatre in the 12 hours ending at 10 o'clock today.

All morning the rescuers struggled with the heavy wreckage left when the snow-laden roof of the structure collapsed during the showing of a comedy feature bill, Saturday night. H. G. Bannochter, commander of federal troops in the district, in personal charge of the rescue work, said it might be another 24 hours before it could be definitely said there were no more dead or injured in the wreckage of twisted steel and concrete which yet remained to be cleared away of the mass that was buried down without warning on the pleasure-seeking hundreds below.

Imprisoned For 36 Hours

It was believed, however, that the section now being explored would yield few additions to the awful list of dead and injured, it being near the rear and under the part of the balcony which held up when the front of it crashed down to the theatre pit under the impact of the falling roof. A party of the rescuers early today had been struggling for hours to release from the part of the wreckage now being overturned one man believed to be yet alive although imprisoned under the mass for nearly 36 hours. The great weight of the steel beams and concrete which crashed with the roof, in many instances made the rescue of victims harrowing slow and tedious.

City Bowed in Grief

The capital city was bowed in grief

today to learn the full extent of the tragedy with the recovery of victims yesterday and last night. This was the more intensely shared by the rest of the country because of the considerable number of visitors who suffered in the catastrophe. President Harding, in a statement last night, said the tragedy had left him with the "same inexpressible sorrow which has come to all of Washington and which will be sympathetically felt throughout the land."

Three-Fold Investigation

A three-fold investigation of the cause and circumstances of the collapse of the theatre roof was in preparation today. In addition to an exhaustive inquiry ordered by the board of commissioners of the District and another to be started immediately by the grand jury, Senator Capper of Kansas, a member of the senate district of Columbia committee, announced that as soon as the senate convened he would introduce a resolution calling for an investigation of the tragedy. The senator said he had received reports that the building code of the District had been violated in more than a few instances during the rush of construction resulting from the rapid increase of population here after the war declaration.

Making Fight for Life

Edward H. Shaugnessy, second assistant postmaster general, who was among the 14 listed as seriously injured, was still making a fight for life today at the Walter Reed hospital. His wife and two daughters also were injured, but not so seriously. Among those prominent on the list of dead as it stood today, was: Former Representative A. J. Barchfield, formerly of Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Virginia Parrand, sister of Minister Blanchi of Guatemala.

ALLEN'S LUNG HEALER

It Not Exclusively a Lung Medicine

It is equally effective for a Cold, Cough, Sore Throat or Hoarseness. It cures when all other remedies fail, because it is different. Its wonderful healing and soothing properties produce the same effect on the throat as on the lungs. People who have become acquainted with this remedy place absolute faith in its effectiveness for all kinds of colds and are seldom disappointed. A few doses in the first stages of a cold will generally protect the throat and lungs from attack and prevent suffering.

DR. J. F. KRASNYSKY

Lowell Doctor Is Appointed Professor of Nervous and Mental Diseases in

Medicine and Surgery College

Dr. John F. Krasnysky, medical director of the Physiotherapy clinic in the

Keith theatre building, has been appointed professor of nervous and mental diseases at the Middlesex College of Medicine and Surgery in Cambridge.

The doctor has already assumed his new duties at the college, his new position will in no way interfere with his clinic.

Dr. Krasnysky has been a practicing physician in the city several years.

During the world war he was chief of the Neuro-Psychiatric service at the base hospital at Camp Devens, and was the first of the war to be a member of the medical corps. Prior to his appointment in the service the doctor was at one time assistant physician at the Boston Psychopathic hospital, and former associate physician of the St. Elizabeth's and Arlington Heights hospitals, at Arlington Heights.

He also held the position of director of the Massachusetts College of Physiotherapy.

During the Tallen murder trial at East Cambridge last May, Dr. Krasnysky was chief adviser for the defense.

He is a doctor of wide experience in his particular line of work and his friends are congratulating him on his recent appointment.

FOUR OF FAMILY OF FIVE KILLED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Four of the five members of the family of Oscar G. Kanston, of 3847 North Winchester street, Chicago, lost their lives in the Knickerbocker Theatre disaster. Kanston, who came here recently in connection with some temporary work for the bureau of valuation of the Interstate Commerce commission, went Saturday night to the playhouse with his wife, his two daughters, Helen, 13, and Arlyn, 7, and his son, Grant, 11. Only the boy escaped.

CHILDREN ASLEEP IN THEATRE WRECKAGE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Sleeping peacefully beneath the debris in the wrecked Knickerbocker Theatre, two little girls, aged about four and six, were found early yesterday by rescuers. 10 hours after the playhouse roof had fallen in.

Apostrophe neither of the children was badly hurt. They were taken to a hospital without identification.

Four hours earlier, a five-year-old girl was found unhurt, seated between the bodies of two women. Her life evidently had been saved by her falling between the seats and the protection given her by the bodies of the two women who were killed beside her.

The last person to be taken from the ruins was Dr. Scott Montgomery, of Washington, who was rescued 13 hours after the roof collapsed. He was pinned by his legs underneath a beam which killed the young woman whom he had escorted to the theatre. The

Cardinal Mercier's Views on Election of Successor to Late Pope Benedict

ROME, Jan. 30. (By Associated Press.)—The next pope is certain to be an Italian, according to a statement made yesterday by Cardinal Mercier, primate of Belgium, to the Associated Press.

"There is no need to indulge in vain conjectures or to count the votes in advance," said the cardinal, "but one must wait the decree of Providence, and Providence for the past five centuries has ruled that the supreme pontiff should be an Italian."

The distinguished Belgian prelate did not concur in the opinion that has been freely expressed in Vatican circles that "never has a foreign cardinal had such a chance of being elected pope."

"It is against all tradition that a foreigner should be elected," said the cardinal. "The next pope certainly will be an Italian."

Talk of Self-Proclamation

It was suggested that the last foreign cardinal raised to the supreme pontificate was the Archbishop of Liege. "Undoubtedly you have heard, your eminence, that the name of another Belgian cardinal is being prominently mentioned for the coming conclave," it was said.

"O you must not think of that," replied Cardinal Mercier. "You must not believe it. It is preposterous. I never thought of that before. Providence will decide."

"Forgive your enemies," said the cardinal in response to a query whether he favored closer relations between the Vatican and the Quirinal, according to the policy of Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, or whether he was one of the irreconcilables on the side of Cardinal Merry Del Val.

"The Lord's Prayer," the cardinal added, "forgive us as we forgive those who trespass against us."

The present does not seem a favorable moment for reaction. Perhaps, after all, it is possible for the world to live in peace and friendliness with one another.

The correspondent asked the cardinal whether in his mention of the Lord's prayer he included Belgium's late war enemies, which also must be forgiven.

"The Lord does not appear to have made any distinction," replied the cardinal. "He simply says, 'Forgive those who have trespassed against us.'"

Then, after a pause, the cardinal's face took a serious expression. "Yes," he said, "I am sure that includes our late enemies."

With reference to the American attending the conclave, Cardinal Mercier thought that Cardinal O'Connell might arrive in time, but that the chances of Cardinal Dougherty were very slim, unless the election was a lengthy one. Cardinal Mercier has received many messages from the United States concerning his health. He is somewhat annoyed at the report of his illness and said yesterday that he never felt better.

Throughout his talk he referred to Africa in the most eulogistic terms, exclaiming, "The great American nation—a great people, how many good friends I have made there."

Say Three or Four Ballots

The new pontiff will be elected by Saturday next, according to the consensus of opinion as expressed by the prelates arriving here with the cardinal attached to the conclave; they expect that the decision will be reached on the third or fourth ballot.

do not anticipate a sharply divided contest, which some predicted, said a prominent English ecclesiastic yesterday. "Although there are naturally divergent views among the cardinals, these differences are not irreconcilable, and I am confident that the Sacred College will be able to agree upon the successor of Benedict in a relatively short time."

American and English church dignitaries consider it a certainty that the choice will fall upon an Italian. They believe that the best chances lie with Cardinals Muhl, Ratti, Lega and La Fontaine.

A prominent English prelate, who asked that his name be withheld, declared it would be a great mistake to elect a foreign cardinal, as that would lead to disappointment and dissatisfaction among countries like the United States, Great Britain and France, all of whom probably felt that they merited high office, whereas the selection of an Italian would be acceptable to all.

MURDER TRIAL POSTPONED

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Trial of Abrie J. Westling, former Worcester, Mass. salarman, for the murder of Carl Moller, Bronx Jeweler, Dec. 23, was again adjourned today, this time until March 6, to permit defense counsel to obtain from Sweden evidence regarding hereditary insanity. About 400 spectators were in the court room, some 50 of them being members of the First Swedish Baptist church of Worcester. Those who came from Worcester, included Westling's father, mother, brother and sister.

Found Frozen to Death in Shack

HAVERSTRAW, N. Y., Jan. 30.—Charles Ingrall, old and shabbily dressed, was found frozen to death in a shack on the outskirts of Haverstraw yesterday. Little children of the town always thought he was a penniless tramp, but his bookbonds showed he had $1000. The coroner found $120 in the old man's pockets.

Captured After Gun Fight; Held in $10,000

LYNN, Jan. 30.—Sherman Morris, alias Samuel A. Robinson, who was arrested last Saturday night after he had taken diamond rings valued at $3860 from two jewelry store windows, which he broke, waived examination when arraigned today on charges of breaking, entering and larceny. He was held in $10,000 bail for the superior court. Morris was captured after a running gun fight with the police, and all the rings except one, valued at $800, were found in his possession.

Denies Motion of Boddy's Counsel

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Supreme Court Justice Wasservogel today denied a motion to declare a mistrial in the case of Luther Boddy, negro, on trial for first degree murder for the slaying of two detectives. Boddy's counsel filed the motion Friday, claiming that admission of rebuttal testimony by Patrolman Jasper Rhodes, to the effect that Boddy had shot him four times on Dec. 19 was prejudicial to Boddy's interests.

Would Accept Shantung Proposal

PEKIN, Jan. 30.—(By the Associated Press.)—The government is understood to hold that the final Shantung proposal at the Washington conference as framed by the British and American delegates, should be accepted.

While it was felt to be important that the problems of the port of Kiaochow should also be adjusted, it was realized that this could not be done without a settlement of the Shantung railway question and that, therefore, it was unwise to refuse the proffered adjustment.

A refusal, it was realized, might alienate the English-speaking nations, who were considered in government circles as likely to hold China unreasonable, to the detriment of their future relations with her.

Charged With Attempt to Kill Step-Son

BRISTOL, R. I., Jan. 30.—The case of Mrs. Ruth J. McCaw, charged with assault with intent to kill her step-son, Leon E. McCaw, on Dec. 20 last, was continued to Feb. 13 in district court today. Mrs. McCaw, the authorities allege, attempted to do away with the youth with poison administered through food and medicine.

A report on the chemical analysis of the vital organs of Elsie B. McCaw, a step-daughter, whose body was examined a month ago, is expected this week. The analysis was made to determine whether the girl had died of poisoning.

Former Policeman Ends Life With Rifle

FITCHBURG, Jan. 30.—Henry R. Behrens, 73, formerly a policeman, proprietor of a wood working shop at 85 Water street, killed himself early today by blowing his head off with a rifle. In a note he said: "All men led to him." Another apologized to his customers for the "sudden termination of business."

Barbers Strike at Springfield

SPRINGFIELD, Jan. 30.—About 50 union barbers employed in 20 shops quite work today following failure to agree with the employers concerning overtime work and commissions. The employers turned in their union cards at labor headquarters and announced that they operate open shops. The journeymen have, it is said, declined an offer of the employers to arbitrate the differences.

Conclave Meets Thursday

for the performance of the coronation, and the dress and deportment of those participating in them. It has been prescribed that all prelates excepting cardinals will wear black vestments.

All those who will remain within the Vatican when its doors are bolted at the beginning of the election, have been summoned to meet in the Sala Regia, adjacent to the Sistine Chapel, on Thursday to take the oath of secrecy for the duration of the sitting, and the Sacred College has appointed a commission to examine the credentials of all the members, attaches and secretaries. This commission is also charged with selecting guards for the conclave and the appointment of barbers, plumbers, plasterers, carpenters and such other workmen and attendants as may be by chance needed before the doors are again opened to the world.

The whole section of the Sistine Chapel included in the revels has been fitted with a platform on which the skulls for the cardinals are placed. These are covered with delicately embroidered tapestry in dainty executed designs and with pleasing harmony of color. An altar is placed against the noted mural painting of Michael Angelo's "Last Judgment," and on the altar are six great silver candlesticks. In the center of the platform there is an improvised tomb at which absolute silence will be given after the three solemn requiem masses.

Prince Chigi, marshal of the conclave, complying with the rites of the coronation, in announcing his orders, always enumerates his full title, which is "Prince Lodovico Chigi Albani dei Rospigliosi, papal marshal of the Holy Church, custodian of the conclave, noble Roman, conscript prince of the Holy Roman empire, prince of the Farnese of Soriano, Duke of Campagna, Duke of Magliano and peccoragna, Seigneur of Castelnuovo, of Casadio, of Oricola and of Serofoano, noble of Viterbo, Lord of Genoa, of Veneto, of Orders, etc."

Scene of Unusual Pomp

The solemn requiem mass in the Sistine chapel this morning, furnished a scene of unusual pomp, with all the cardinals who have arrived in Rome participating. The noble guards acted as guard of honor for the improvised tomb of the late pontiff, and the Swiss guards composed the escort of honor for the solemn procession of cardinals, archbishops and bishops as they came from the Sala Regia through the Sala Ducale to the chapel.

The altar, erected in the center of the chapel, was octagonal in shape, with a copious array of candles burning on all sides and up to its summit, on which rested a replica of the pontifical tiara, resting on a red plush cushion. Two sides of the octagon were adorned with the pontifical arms and the others with phrases eulogizing the life of Benedict XV. The Sistine choir assisted in the solemn ceremony.

BIG GAMBLING RAID IN WESTFIELD

WESTFIELD, Jan. 30.—A squad of police broke up the biggest gambling game in the city's history yesterday morning, when they visited Bohemian hall, Steadway street. More than 50 men were on the premises when the officers entered. They fled in all directions. The names of half of them were secured by the police. They will appear before the district court today, charged with being present at a game on the Lord's Day.

COPENHAGEN BANK IN DIFFICULTIES

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 30. (By the Associated Press.)—The Copenhagen Diskontobank and Revisionsbank, with a share capital of 45,000,000 kroner, is in difficulties, having financial work concerns with large holdings of German marks. The minister of finance met the directors of the other Copenhagen banks yesterday, to consider joint action to guarantee the deposits of the bank.

Investigation showed that the bank had lost 50,000,000 kroner. The directors of the other banks agreed to continue the of the institution on condition that the 14,000,000 kroner, reduced from 45,000,000 to 22,000,000, and its reserve fund from 16,000,000 to 2,000,000.

The Danish National bank will guarantee the bank's share of 14,000,000 kroner, deemed necessary to cover the balance of the 50,000,000 lost in banking circles, it is believed that the measures will enable to establish the Diskontobank and Revisionsbank on a sound foundation.

SAVES WIFE AND CHILDREN FROM FIRE

REVERE, Jan. 30.—The house of John P. Grant, at 62 Walnut street, North Revere, was destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The building, a 2½-story wooden structure, was occupied by Grant, his wife and their four children.

About 3 o'clock Grant was awakened by smelling smoke that filled his room. He attempted to go downstairs, but found that the first door was ablaze. He succeeded in getting his family out through a window, and then sounded an alarm.

North Revere, a long way from the center of city and rather isolated, is difficult to reach, and by the time the firemen arrived the house was doomed to destruction.

WORST BLIZZARD IN YEARS

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Jan. 30.—Atlantic City was recovering today from one of the worst blizzards it has experienced in years. Snow drifts three feet deep were piled in places and for a time practically all traffic by automobiles, rail and trolley was suspended.

Service has been restored on the steam and trolley systems, however, and trains are moving in and out of the city.

HEAD OF NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE LEAVES JAIL

JACKSON, Minn., Jan. 30.—A. C. Townley, president of the National Non-Partisan league, today completed a 90 days' jail sentence for violation of the Minnesota espionage law and was released. He was convicted of making speeches against the selective service act.

He has promised to appear at Fargo, N. D., on February 6, to answer a charge of complicity in the alleged embezzlement of $5000 by J. Hastings from the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo. Hastings, a former officer of the bank, which is now closed, is being sought at Seattle.

INVESTIGATION OF SALE OF ALIEN PROPERTY

BOSTON, Jan. 30.—The scope of the department of justice investigation of the sale in 1919 of the Bosch Magneto Co., as an alien property to the American Bosch Magneto Co., was learned today, coincident with the arrival here of Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, with government records of the transfer. The documents were discussed at a conference of federal attorneys held with a view to preparing the information contained in them for presentation to a federal grand jury.

Officials indicated that the investigation would follow three main channels. The first of these is the sale of the Bosch Magneto Co. by A. Mitchell Palmer an alien property custodian, to Martin E. Kern. In this connection, it was said, the question of Kern's citizenship at the time of the transfer probably would be touched upon.

The government is also interested, officials said, in looking into the Bosch Co.'s contracts with the army air service, involving $120,000. The third phase under investigation, it was said, involved income tax returns filed by the company. Internal Revenue agents are understood to be checking up these returns.

The records brought by Mr. Miller were gone over at a conference attended by United States Attorney Robt. O. Harris of this district, Assistant Federal Attorney John F. Joyce of New York and Mr. Miller. The federal grand jury here which started consideration of the case last week is due to come in to aid tomorrow or Wednesday. Whether it will complete the case, or grand juries at Washington, or New York will begin it, is still uncertain.

The question of jurisdiction was to be discussed further, officials said. Mr. Miller was accompanied to the conference by former Congressman William W. Wilson, of the Third Illinois district as special litigation counsel for the alien property custodian; Paul Smith, chief of the corporation management division of the custodian; and Paul Smith, chief of the corporation management division of the custodian's office.

Mr. Miller said he appeared at the KEENE, Jan. 30.—Edwin A. Bagley, famous for his composition "National Emblem March," died here yesterday, aged 61. Mr. Bagley had a long career as a musician and a teacher of music. He led several bands in different parts of the country and played in the Boston Symphony orchestra for several years. He began his musical career at the age of eight and taught music until his illness.

TROUBLED WITH RINGWORM YEARS

On Face. Itched Badly. Cuticura Healed.

"For several years I was troubled with ringworms on my face. They itched badly and at times were very red. The skin around them was inflamed. My face looked horrid. I tried different remedies but none of them helped me. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample which helped me. I bought more and in one month was completely healed, after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Ointment." (Signed) Miss Emma Gubisch, 324 Elm St., Meriden, Conn., Sept. 13, 1921.

MECCA FOR THE THIRSTY

Bimini Isle, Where Ponce de Leon Sought "Fountain of Youth" Rolls in Gold

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 30.—Federal prohibition officials here interested in Bimini, the small British island forty miles east of Miami, which since the outlawing of John D. Barleycorn by the United States has become a mecca for those whose thirst was not quenched by the Eighteenth amendment, and which also is said to be the source of much of the liquor smuggled into this country, have ascertained that Bimini was supposed to have been the site of the "fountain of youth" of which Ponce de Leon was in search when he discovered Florida.

Bimini is not a recently established location. It has been developed, for more than four hundred years ago it figured in the news reports of the day by that name. Ponce de Leon heard of it while in Porto Rico in 1492, having been told by the Indians there "of an island called Bimini, where there was much gold and a treasure even more precious than gold—a fountain whose waters would make young forever all mortals who should drink of it," as one chronicler puts it.

Ponce de Leon fitted out three small vessels at his own expense to go in search of the fountain. He left to the present generation the discovery of the gold and potent waters, however, for after cruising about the Bahamas during the winter of 1513 without sighting the island he heard there was land in the northwest, steered in that direction and on Easter Sunday, March 27, landed on the beach a few miles north of where St. Augustine now stands.

Prohibition officials credit the Indians of Porto Rico with having known that they were talking about when they told Ponce de Leon what he would find at Bimini.

"Bimini is cunning over with gold these days," said one official, "and it is certain from the experience we have had with the rum runners the last year or two that the marvelous waters of the fountain still flow freely."

IF SKIN BREAKS

OUT AND ITCHES—
APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ destroying properties, it quickly soothes the itching, calms the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store. Adv.

Big Storm Moving Out to Sea

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—The centre of a storm which flung a deep blanket of snow over the entire Middle Atlantic section of the country Friday and Saturday was slightly north and east of Cape Cod today, and going seaward. Washington redoubled its efforts today to clear away the storm impediments. Train service north and south had been restored practically to normal today. Reports from other points, including Philadelphia and Baltimore, showed they faced much the same conditions as Washington, with the process of recovery still slow.

Worcester Man on Trial For Murder

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Alrie Westling, formerly of Worcester, Mass., was brought to trial today for the murder of Carl Mollar, elderly Bronx jeweler, who was shot in his home the day before Christmas, while trying to prevent the theft of jewelry valued at several thousand dollars. Mrs. Ursuline Mollar the widow, who was wounded by a bullet in the head, will be the chief witness for the prosecution.

No Deaths in Montgomery During Year

WESTFIELD, Jan. 30.—Montgomery, a hamlet of 290 odd persons near here, needs no undertakers. Statistics made public today showed that no deaths occurred there during 1921. The village went through a year without deaths a decade ago also. The population was increased last year by six births.

THIN, FLAT HAIR
GROWS LONG, THICK
AND ABUNDANT

"Dandeline" costs only 45 cents a bottle. One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and, in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, so soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yet really new hair—growing all over the scalp. Dandeline is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.—Adv.

New Movie Title Indicate
Return to Old Sentiment

"THIS DOG WAS THE PUP IN CHAPLIN'S 'THE KID.' NOW LOOK AT HIM. HE'S THE HOUND IN 'PENROD,' STARRING WESLEY BARRY"

BY JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Dissatisfaction with many pictures today is caused by their insincerity. A sex appeal lies under a thin veneer of moral preachment. Lighter titles are employed as sugar coating for low brow episodes. Films are filled with villainy of every manner, yet end illogically with the wings sprouting where horns had grown. If you'll excuse that mixed physiological metaphor.

Despite the growing tendency for big productions of historical significance, there is a reactionary tendency to return to the sentiment that was extant when "Bedolla," "Warrent Moon" and "In the Good Old Summer Time" in song typified the national spirit of romance.

This sentiment is indicated in the titles of new movies—"Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" "Why Girls Leave Home," "The Days of Von Stroheim reproduced the Monte Buffalo Bill," "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," "On the Banks of the Wabash" and "The Curse of an Aching Heart."

I have not seen any of these films as yet. Some of them, that have been exhibited are proving box office successes. The titles at least profess to be box office titles. There is virtue in their frankness.

And if films bearing those titles prove popular, it will be safe to wager that jazz music will soon be as dead as the vaudeville movie.

Atmosphere is one of the most essential elements in the success of a photoplay. Parlor action in incongruous in a kitchen. A hot curler is not at home in a drawing room. Von Stroheim spent several hundred thousand dollars for atmosphere of "Foolish Wives." A very small percentage of those who will see the film have ever been to Monte Carlo, yet Carlo settings with exactitude. I have never been to Monte Carlo. When I saw "Foolish Wives" I was accompanied by a man who had lived there seven months during the post-war period in which the film action took place. He said that every detail was as it had been when he was there. He couldn't pick a single flaw. Yet the director could have taken his company to Monte Carlo and filmed the scenes for less than it cost to build the replica.

Charlie Chaplin found a hound pup on the street one day. He fed him and then made him earn his keep by acting in "The Kid." The pup grew and grew and then Charlie thought it was a hound. It looks more like a bull. At any rate, the dog grew right up into a full-sized dog's part in "Penrod," which was recently completed with Wesley Barry as the star. And by the way, Wesley is growing so fast he will soon have to have a man's size role.

BIG EATERS GET
KIDNEY TROUBLE

Take Salts at First Sign of Bladder Irritation or Backache

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out. They weaken then from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead, your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Dr. Satter's take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

And Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flushing any time.—Adv.

Roxbury Woman Says She Was Almost a Physical Wreck for Eight Years With Stomach Trouble and Nervousness

Now Well and Strong She Wants Other Sufferers to Know How She Regained Health—Gives Tanlac Full Credit

"Tanlac has done me so much good I simply can't find words to praise it in my case for what they may be worth to others," was the characteristic statement of Mrs. Marion Cross, 25 Sawyer st., Roxbury, Mass.

"I was almost a total physical wreck for eight years. It seemed that everything was the matter with me. I had neuritis in my right arm so bad I couldn't raise my hand to put my hat on, and that arm and hand ached and pained so much I could hardly stand it. My stomach gave me no end of trouble, and my food soured and bloated me until I could hardly get my breath, and at times I thought surely I was going to faint. My nerves were all gone, and I got to where I would jump every time the door bell rang. I spent hours each night lying awake just waiting for sleep to come. I was so worried about my condition."

"There were times when I almost gave up hope entirely, but some of my neighbors told me to try Tanlac. In about a week I noticed a change for the better, and am now as well and strong as I ever was. That neuritis has disappeared and I never have a pain of any kind and can use my hands and arms as well as I ever could. I can hardly wait for meal time to come, and no longer do I cut my food a particle. I sleep like a school girl, and feel fine all the time. I just wish I could fully explain what a great medicine Tanlac is."

Tanlac and Tanlac Vegetable Pills are sold in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; by Wright Drug Co., Billerica, Mass.; A. D. Fells, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

SENATOR REED'S ELOQUENCE

Owing to his engagement as counsel for District Attorney Pelletier in the proceedings brought by the attorney general, Senator Reed of Missouri had been absent from the senate much of the time during which the case of Newberry was under discussion.

He went to Washington, however, to vote against seignioring Newberry, but he did not have the time to fight the majority plan to seat Newberry inch by inch; and it would have been unavailing if he did, for the reason that the republican leaders were determined to seat the Michigan candidate. But it was not supposed that while voting to seat Newberry, the senators would at the same time adopt a resolution condemning the excessive use of money as used in behalf of Newberry as a menace to representative government and an insult to the senate, yet vote to seat Newberry, the man at the bottom of it all.

The lasting administered to the republicans who voted to seat Newberry was the most severe ever heard in the senate. It would be difficult to imagine anything more severely satirical.

"I unhesitatingly say that in all the annals of the legislative bodies that have ever existed upon the face of the earth there never has been so shameful a resolution adopted; there never has been so bold a publication of the infamy of those who voted for the resolution."

"There is not a man who voted for this resolution who did not brand in red letters above and over and across his political record the word 'dishonor.'"

In the course of his speech he suggested a new word to express the stupidity shown by the denouncing a crime as wrong and then raffling it. Reed is beyond question one of the greatest masters of invective in the senate. The senator or the party that draws his fire will keenly feel the thrusts of his sharp and shining oratorical rapier.

He displayed this power in his argument in the Pelletier case and whether in this he wins or loses, it cannot be denied that Senator Reed put up a wonderful defense.

It would not be surprising to find Reed put forward as a candidate for president in 1924. He is a staunch democrat, and an able statesman of long and varied experience.

WILSON'S REMOVAL

Harold D. Wilson, prohibition enforcement supervisor, is fired and a Brookline man, James P. Roberts, has been appointed to his place. The reasons given for the removal of Wilson by Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair differ very widely from those put forth by Mr. Wilson. It is to be supposed, however, that Commissioner Blair has a more distinct and definite knowledge of the facts than has Wilson, his subordinate. One of these is incompatibility or inability to get along with his superior officers and an extraordinary itching for publicity. Wilson wanted to bark in the line of a manner that was not at all agreeable to his superiors. Furthermore, he seemed to forget that the prohibition law, according to the 15th amendment, is to be enforced by concurrent action by the federal and state authorities.

Commissioner Blair takes pains to make it clear that Senator Lodge had nothing whatever to do with the removal of Wilson, but that on the contrary, he wanted him retained. The leaders seem to be afraid that Wilson, in line with his appeals to the public, might prove a dangerous political enemy if he should launch an attack against Senator Lodge, especially when the latter comes before the voters for re-election.

TOWNLEY AGAIN

Some time ago certain western states were carried away politically and sentimentally by a man named Townley, known as president of the "National Non-Partisan League." Great newspapers and magazines sent representatives to the middle west to interview this curiosity and spread the glorious views of a scheme he had in mind to further the interests of the brotherhood of man. The Townley legends grew apace and upset all old-time political parties in the immediate cities and towns where the new idea spread like a contagion.

Townley was exhibited as the one man in America who could save the nation of our fathers from utter ruin. The Townley non-partisan league was about to rescue the ravished farmers and others from the baleful influence of the money kings. Townley's name was blazoned on high in the great rural districts where he won a host of followers by simply going the Chautauque rounds and exhibiting his wonderful and magnetic powers. Today the Townley of former prestige and magnetism languishes in the Jackson, Minn., jail, where he is serving a ninety-day sentence for conviction on a charge of violating the state espionage law. And on the day he secures his release a stalwart officer of the law is to appear at the front door of the Jackson jail and serve another warrant on Townley, this time charging him with implication in the alleged embezzlement of $3,000 in funds from the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo, North Dakota.

Such is fame and such is the fate of a man of strange influence who at one time threatened to sweep the western section of the country into his political party with promises of fighting all wrongs and saving the people from impending disaster. The Townley forces have not been heard from very much of late, and we have no doubt that Townley will "be heard" by the people throughout the country.

MAKE IT A RECORD BREAKER

In view of the prevailing distress due to unemployment, unusual steps should be taken to make the tag day arranged for next Saturday a magnificent success. We believe that in this case the usual plan of running a tag day should be departed from so as to offer an opportunity for the contribution of bills by those who feel disposed to be generous. Indeed it might be a good idea to open headquarters at which contributions would be received in advance of the tag day.

There is deep sympathy for the unemployed throughout the city and hence we believe many who can afford to contribute would freely do so in order to aid a cause so worthy.

The prediction of better times has not yet been verified to the extent of greatly increasing the employment, although it is confidently hoped that the spring will bring a very material improvement.

The amount received next Saturday through the tag day, will indicate the sympathy of those who are employed for those who are not. But the collections should not be confined to nickels, dimes and quarters. The "tag" ladies should have collection boxes suitable for the receipt of bills and half dollars. Meantime, the committee in charge should appoint a treasurer to receive contributions to swell the fund for the needy unemployed. An appeal to public sympathy in such a case would surely bring a generous response.

MR. HEARST'S AMBITIONS

From New York comes word that Hearst, not content with previous overwhelming defeats in nation-wide campaign contests for office, is once more in the running, and this time will be content with either the New York governorship or a United States senator's berth from the Empire state. His alleged desires are recorded freely in some of the New York press, but of course Hearst himself is not saying a word yet, although he claims to "print all the news." His state in New York, Hearst agents, highly paid and active, are said to be running riot, rounding up old-time Hearst henchmen and securing their names to party organization papers. Down in the big city, Charles F. Murphy and his Tammany Hall braves are said to be lining up quietly under the Hearst banner, with indications that Mayor Hylan, too, will be in the list of Hearst supporters when the time comes for the opportune time to move.

Hearst's millions have done much politically for many years, although he has never yet obtained the high preferment to which he aspired. The old line democrats of that great state do not approve of the Hearst ambitions. They declare that he has no claims on straight democracy. They point to his changing colors year in and year out, his desertion of the democratic standards on more than one occasion and his return again to the ranks when he found it profitable to do so. "The democratic regulars," proud of the campaigns that made Cleveland and Wilson presidents, and elected many able democratic senators and governors, are inclined to look askance upon the latest move on the part of Mr. Hearst to start through devious underground channels once again for some sort of political office.

It is alleged that all his life, the New York millionaire-silver mine millionaire has applied to the presidency of the United States. He has that right, of course, and his move to secure a lesser office that may be but a step in that direction.

NELLIE BLY

Nellie Bly, newspaper woman, who some time ago achieved fame by a spectacular trip around the world in record time, is dead in a New York hospital. Thus passes a woman whose name once rang around the globe for a plucky performance that brought her many accolades and a great deal of notoriety.

Her world-circling trip was made for a great New York newspaper, to prove or disprove the possibility of Jules Verne's imaginative story, "Around the World in Eighty Days." She went Venice more than seven days better, by finishing the circuit in a little more than 72 1/2 days. Of course that in a long time figured on present modes of rapid transit. The airplane can do it in a much shorter time, but in the old days, it was a record-breaking stunt, and well, of course, he ever memorable as the achievement of a woman.

In private life, Nellie Bly was Mrs. Elizabeth C. Seaman. She essayed in recent years to fill a newspaper berth with her facelap pen, but of that little need be said. It was "heart problem" stuff for young women and "poor working girls" of the broad fourted out by certain large newspapers of the country that appear to deal in that material principally as circulation-builders. She was not a writer of distinction, although unable with her pen or typewriter if indeed who ever learned to operate the keyboard. "The world-traveler attained a ripe old age, her life was serene most of the time, and she was a joy to all newspapermen wherever she happened to be, being a splendid conversationalist, quick witted and remarkable in many other ways. She typified the woman who dares to do things that have been regarded as fit only for men.

Apparently Mr. James Gray and Michael Collins are making progress toward a united Ireland. In that they will have very general support from the people throughout the country.

SEEN AND HEARD

Modern day elopch rides are all right but they're not a patch on the old-timers.

Prohibition doesn't seem to prohibit. If there is any other meaning for the word, let's have it.

An engine of one catpower running all the time is more effective than one of 40 horse-power, standing idle.—George William Curtis.

A Word a Day

"Today's word is decorum. It's pronounced—de-ko-ryum, with accent on the second syllable. It means—decency, seamliness, fitness, modesty. It comes from—Latin—"decorum," comely. Companion word—decorous. It's used like this—"When in society you should behave with decorum."

Hadn't Arrived

In a certain village church in England it is the custom for the vicar to await the arrival of the quire before he begins the service. On one occasion, the vicar being absent, his place was taken by a substitute, who started the service promptly at 11 o'clock, leading off with: "When the wicked man is thrust," interrupted the vicar, in a flushing whisper; "he isn't here yet."

'Twas Ever Thus

Corliss, Bleeker was talking at Piping Rock about a young man who, having gone through his fortune committed suicide in Japan. "Poor Jack!" he said, "Jack always was a bad egg, but nobody seemed to notice it as long as he was rich." Mr. Bleeker smiled philosophically. "In other words," he said, "he was all right till he was broke."

Left Dab to Die

"They've left my babe in there to die!" shrieked a frantic woman who was rescued from the burning building. Policemen were asking the number of her room when at a third-story window a man in pajamas and a jaunty hat appeared on a balcony and called down, "Don't worry, Lou! Fire safe, 'my baby' gasped the woman, thankful.

The Jury Dodgers

No one has a right to complain of anything connected with the enforcement of the criminal law unless he is willing to do jury duty in the criminal courts. This is said in New York, by Judge Alfred S. Bailey, who has been complaining about "crime waves" usually are jury dodgers. They yell, "Crime," but refuse to help put the fire out, though they have the best and often the only buckets.

Might Have Been Worse

"Pretty bad fire you had here last night," commented the recently arrived guest. "Ehnyah," replied the host, "it could have been a lot worse. The hotel was full, and the fire started in the kitchen. The fire department had it pretty nearly out, and then the mayor came and took personal charge of the conflagration, and yelled orders till he got the firemen so mixed up that they couldn't do anything. And I reckon if it hadn't begun to rain directly the whole do-d-m-n-ated town would have been obliterated. But I suppose you might have said, 'How could it have been worse?' 'Why, the governor or a congressman might have come and took charge instead of the mayor, and it might not have rained."

Mt. Desert Island, Maine

This is the island where beauty dwells. Where the hills come down to the sea. Where the sunshine smiles and the shadows go. And the seagulls fit over the sea. There where the mountains lift their heads. And the vapors rise and fall. Where the streams abound with the speckled trout. And you hear sweet Nature's call.

Here's where the pine trees, colonial, stand. In their dignity, serene. Where the ocean fills and the ocean

And the sea-gulls sail, is seen. Here's where the flowers sip the dew. From their atoms among the grass. Here's where the catkins nod and gaze. And the white seagulls, as they pass.

Welcome, there is an every hand. As true as the truest heart. For a man's a man, and he feels the bonds.

In the way he's made to feel. There's a different air, and a different word. And a different smile, maybe. That's the heart away from here. In this island in the sea.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Once again I have been reminded of the fact that the birds and small animals, suffering from this cold spell, people are requested to toss a few crumbs to the birds at least once a day. English sparrows are regarded by many as nuisances, but the fact remains they are among God's creatures and are entitled to a living the same as larger animals and birds that are able to successfully combat cold weather. When the weather is not as cold as it has been during the past few days, the birdies have a chance to scratch up a few morsels of food. It is not a pleasant sight to see little fluffy birds dead on the snow for lack of food.

My neighbor and nimble paragrapher, "As She Sees It," referred last Friday in a somewhat scornful way to the "old-fashioned farmhouses with only stoves to depend on for warmth." I don't like that little snip on the old-time way of living, which can be found almost anywhere and in any Middlesex county town. But I must differ from my friend across the street for her evident intention to class all old-fashioned farmhouses in the ranks of the frigid places.

I happen to know farmhouses pretty well, and I know how well most of them are heated in the winter months. Not only is the average old-fashioned farmhouse one of the warmest places on the map on the very coldest days of winter, but a good many old-fashioned farmhouses are now fitted with furnaces, steam heat, or that new fashioned "one radiator" heating apparatus that absorbs quantities of heat up into the attic hallway and all through the lower and upper rooms in quite commendable style.

I am not talking, understand, about the shiftless farmer with a house full of holes where the wintry drafts blow in freely, but of the average farm-

PYTHIANS HOLD JOINT INSTALLATION

A joint installation of the officers of Dorcas Temple, 13, Pythian Sisters and Samuel H. Hines lodge, 6, Knights of Pythias, took place Saturday evening in the Pythian hall. The ceremonies were public and were largely attended. In the early part of the evening supper was served by the entertainment committee, which is composed as follows: Charles Pettigrew, A. D. Bumpus, W. E. Phelps, F. B. Millett and F. W. Ireland. The supper was followed by a social hour during which a delightful exhibition of floor work was given by the sisters' degree staff in charge of Mrs. Frank Whipple.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatrical Press Agents)

H. D. KETTES THEATRE

Henry's Melody Sextet, which will be the leading act of the present week at the H. D. Kettes Theatre, is a group of girls, six clever characters, who fascinate because of their attractive girliness and their musical and vocal accomplishments. These young women were selected with an idea of bringing to vaudeville an exceptional sextet of women, and the idea has been proved very successfully. Each of the six is an artist who might easily gain public approval without the assistance of the others.

Following in the form an interesting sketch which is put on by Glenn & Jordan, it is one of the best travesties to be found in the theatre today. It shows two merry party-going and dancing, enjoying and disapproving, happy and troubled, all over their heads the lights of the stage. The comedy sketch can also be seen and danced well. There is good action to the sketch. Who is She? is a comedy by William H. Hines, which is played by the H. D. Kettes Theatre. It is something of the eternal triangle, although it has a little twist to it. William H. Hines can write these things, and make them different and he has done so with this act.

Melville Hines will give audiences a taste of the way that Trazzini, Barrar, Gordon, Galski, Destia and Richard sing some of their grand operatic numbers. The H. D. Kettes Theatre is a place where you can see and hear the best of the H. D. Kettes Theatre. It is something of the eternal triangle, although it has a little twist to it. William H. Hines can write these things, and make them different and he has done so with this act.

CROWN THEATRE

Following in the story of Mae Murray, Marion Davies, Martha Mansfield, and a host of other Ziegfeld Follies beauties who have deserted the stage for motion pictures, is the play, "The pretty blonde ingenue of Broadway's most popular revue. Is now a screen recruit, Miss Frances will be seen in a comedy, 'The Three Men in a Boat,' which is a comedy by William H. Hines, which is played by the H. D. Kettes Theatre. It is something of the eternal triangle, although it has a little twist to it. William H. Hines can write these things, and make them different and he has done so with this act.

Jack Holt, Lois Wilson, Conrad Nagel and Lila Lee are included in the cast. The picture which was adapted from a novel by Constance Hamilton, is a Paramount. Repeating a story of intense human interest, the development of which is handled with superlative skill by L. L. Gassner, the famous French director, "A Wife's Awakening" will have its initial production at the Crown Theatre today, where it will begin an engagement of two days. Fritz Brunette, William P. Carleton, Sam De Grasse, Beverly Travers and Edythe Chapman appear in parts for which they are perfectly equipped.

OPERA HOUSE

"Nightie Night," the week's presentation by Miss Marguerite Mello and her own company at the Opera House, is a clean, wholesome play with a single act in mind, namely, to provide all of the fun possible for the audience by the local company every ounce of enjoyment and mirth in it will be brought out. This means an entertainment that will undoubtedly exceed anything presented at the Opera House during the present season. If you have not yet secured your seats for the coming week's series, starting with matinee on Tuesday, and continuing each afternoon and evening during the remainder of the week, then do so at once. The advance sale is unusually large. The annual high school play today is the same reason why the stock week does not start until Tuesday.

Miss Fields and Director Albion Jones, the actors of the most enjoyable comedy centration that the stock stage has given in these parts, and we all feel that this assurance will be fully realized. To feel sure of the best seats one should place his or her name on the subscription list. It costs no more. The office opens today from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Tel. 261.

THE STRAND

"Power of the North," the big special feature of the Strand, the picture program at the Strand for the first three days of this week, starting with matinee today, is said to be the premier screen story of the great and wonderful Northland. It is a different kind of a northwest story, and with Henry H. Walthall and Pauline Starke in the principal roles the picture is assured of at least interesting characterizations. The scenic effects are wonderfully good. Shirley Mason and Herbert Heyes in "The Strong Boy" is the other feature of real merit. Don't miss either! The usual comedy and weekly will also be shown.

HALLO THEATRE

"Tollable David," a gripping story of the Kentucky mountains with a renowned homo loving and playing the leading part is the prime attraction of the Hallo programme today. Richard Barthelmess, hero of "Way Down East," has other notable productions from the leading role. On the same program today is "Birds of Prey" in "Requiem for a Fool," also an educational comedy and the Kingstons.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

Wallace Reid in "Rent Free" and Betty Compson in "The Woman and the Law" are the feature attractions of the Merrimack Square Theatre. In addition there is a Johnny Hines comedy and exclusive photo play "The Strong Boy." Don't miss this big program.

CUPPER STAINS

Fresh coffee stains can be removed from fabric by placing four or five grains of cupper stain on the stain and pouring hot water through it. The stain is very obstinate, dissolve a little borax in the water.

Berton Braley's Daily Poem Sea Longing

Put me on a ship, with the flood-tide flowing,
Put me on a ship with the great wind blowing,
For I am weary of the raucous city,
Of the close-packed houses and the pavements gritty.

Put me on a ship for a far port leaving,
Let me feel the lift of the groundswell heaving,
Know the roll and pitch as the high bow lunge,
Thrusting through the waves where the porpoise plunges.

Put me on a ship with her masthead swinging,
Spray on her decks and her taut stays singing,
Singing with a tune of the deep sea's making,
Singing with a voice there is no mistaking.

Put me on a ship with her route uncharted,
Tramping all the seas back to where she started,
I am sick of crowds, and of plots and scheming,
Oh, the white wake and the white gulls screaming!

I have heard the voice there is no denying,
Heard the sea call in each soft breeze sighing,
Heard it whisper low, "Come, oh salt sea rover!"
Put me on a ship, bound the wide world over!

4000 Workers in Riot; 2 Killed, 40 Wounded

CALCUTTA, Jan. 30.—(By the Associated Press)—Four thousand workers in the Standard Jute mills at Tittighar, near Calcutta, engaged in a riot Thursday which resulted in numerous casualties. The trouble arose when the workers demanded the release of two comrades arrested on a charge of assaulting the manager of the works. Police rushed to the scene, only to be received with a shower of missiles. The officers fired a volley into the crowd, killing two and wounding forty. Twelve policemen were injured.

6000 Women and Girls Ordered to Strike

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Six thousand women and girls employed in shops in the Lower Fifth avenue district, were ordered on strike today by the Ladies' Waist & Dressmakers' union as a protest against a proposed 25 per cent wage reduction. Tomorrow and Wednesday, union leaders said, the remainder of the 40,000 workers affected by the wage reduction proposal would be called out.

STARTER MURPHY IS BACK ON THE JOB AGAIN

Starter Mike Murphy is back! One of the daily perpetual motion fellows of Merrimack square, who has been missing about two weeks, is on the job again today with all his working tools and everything. News of Murphy's absence, floating around quickly one day when a blue uniformed gentleman in a thick fur coat and armed with a long iron bar and despatch orders strode out into the square and began to issue the latest news to motormen and conductors. It wasn't Starter Mike Murphy, for Starter Mike was listed among the missing.

The mystery of the regular official's disappearance has been explained. For the past 15 or 16 days and nights, the popular street railwayman has been staying at home hugging the Crawford in the kitchen and nursing the toughest sort of a January cold and several other health irregularities such as headaches, sore throat and aching limbs.

"Just another case of a hard winter," the starter explained today as he reported for work early. He admitted that he had a raw deal in the health line, but the old flat was kept heated in good shape, and Mr. Murphy kept tabs so the starter wouldn't sit in any drafts when the mercury was down below the zero line.

As a result of his temporary rest from strenuous duties and good home care, Starter Murphy was able to report this morning about six pounds heavier in weight, appetite excellent and prospects O.K. for another week at street railroading under the usual conditions mapped out on the Merrimack square car schedules.

But it was a tough job getting rid of that January gang of germs that laid him off for repairs.

CONG. SMITHWICK DESCRIBES DISASTER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—An avalanche of broken plaster, bricks, snow, splintered wooden and twisted steel beams entangling upon the audience while the orchestra played and a comedy film ground out, is the description of the Knickerbocker theatre disaster given yesterday by Representative John H. Smithwick of Pensacola, Fla. He was in the balcony of the theatre when the roof collapsed under the weight of snow and escaped unaided—just how, he cannot recall—with more or less serious hurts.

"The orchestra was playing beautiful music and a comedy film was running," said Mr. Smithwick, lying in his bed bandaged and with his face and hands covered with cuts. "Suddenly there was a sharp crack. I looked up and saw a great fissure running across the ceiling. It was right over my head. I instantly realized what was happening. The plaster began to fall, dropping down in large chunks all over the theatre. It seemed to me. While I was looking up a great piece right over my head started to fall. I ducked, crouching involuntarily I suppose, down between the seats. The piece struck the seat right where I had been sitting.

"The noise was awful. It was a great, tremendous roar. It was simply indescribable. I can never forget it. In the midst of the roaring were shrieks and cries of women and children and a few shouts of men. There were cries for help, groans and, worst of all, the moans of those in terrible pain.

"There were only a few of us in the balcony. The balcony gave way and crashed down after the ceiling began to fall, on the lower floor. They were caught the worse. We in the balcony were more fortunate.

"I guess there was a lapse of maybe 20 seconds, hardly more, before the balcony fell.

"I don't know how I got out from chunks of plaster that had fallen on me. I really believe it weighed all of 500 pounds, and I think I moved that plaster with my shoulders."

Representative Smithwick, who lives about a block from the theatre, said he staggered home without overcoat or hat through the snow drifts. Physicians were summoned immediately, who found him suffering from shock, bruises and probably internal injuries.

"I think it was a miracle that I came out alive," said the Florida congressman. "But think of those poor children and men and women who were not so fortunate. I don't see how any who were under that balcony escaped. If those below could have seen the ceiling breaking they would have had time to run out through the doors, but I guess they couldn't see as we could in the balcony."

Quite the best way to keep a meal warm for a late comer is to put the slices of meat, the vegetables and potatoes in a hot pan and then put the pan in a larger basin of boiling water. Gravy should be warmed separately just before the tray comes to the table.

"RUNAWAY FEATHERS"

THE GREEN SHOES

What do you think Nancy and Nick found when they reached the little house?

The green shoes? Yes, there they were, and beside them, smiling out of his sunny nose little eyes were the magical mushrooms.

"I thought I'd fool you a bit this time," he said. "I wondered if you had enough perseverance to climb when you didn't find the shoes on the ground."

"You're ever so nice, Mr. Mushroom," said Nancy. "We're allowed to climb now, since daddy nailed the house all nice and tight and put in some new boards. When we told him that it wasn't a home at all, but a magical elevator that went up into the sky among the clouds, and even up to the stars sometimes, he said he thought he'd better stop the leaks or we might fall through."

"Where are you going now?" asked the mushroom.

"Bushkin said that some day he would take us to the 'Land of Runaway Feathers," answered Nick, "and we hoped he would pick today."

"All right," said a cheery voice, close by, and suddenly Bushkin appeared from nowhere at all. "I'm ready. Want to come along, Mr. Mushroom?"

The mushroom said he'd be glad to, having a few minutes to spare from the fairy queen's work.

Bushkin moved the iron handle, and soon all four were being lifted into the wonderful realm called the "Land of Up-in-the-Air."

They passed the "Land of Lost Balloons" and the "Land of Lost Kittens" like the second and third floors in a department store. Then they passed "Soap Bubble Land" and the "Land of Everything." At floor No. 5, you might say, they stopped and got out. "Here we are," said Bushkin. "Welcome to the 'Land of Runaway Feathers.' Here comes Mr. Crumpling Crane now. I told him to expect us."

GREAT BRITAIN LAYS DOWN TERMS FOR EGYPT

LONDON, Jan. 30. (By A. P.)—The basis on which the British government would be willing to terminate the Egyptian protectorate, recognizing Egypt as a sovereign state and agree to the establishment of an Egyptian parliament, is announced in a statement officially circulated Saturday evening, by the foreign office.

"The high commission in Egypt," says the statement, "has been summoned to England to give full information and advice to His Majesty's government as to the present communications that have been passing between him and the former Egyptian ministers with regard to the future government of the country."

"There appears to be an impression in some quarters that Great Britain has abandoned, or about to abandon, her liberal attitude toward Egypt."

"While unwilling to cede to disorder or violence what they were prepared to grant on its own merits, His Majesty's government have explicitly stated their readiness to invite parliament to terminate its protectorate, which was declared in 1914, to recognize the existence of Egypt as a sovereign state and to agree to the constitution of an Egyptian parliament and the re-establishment of an Egyptian ministry of foreign affairs as soon as they were satisfied as to the following conditions, which they regard as vital to the interests both of Egypt and the empire.

"They must have full and effective guarantees, first, that the imperial communications, to which Egypt is essential, are secured; second, that Great Britain retain both the right and power to afford that protection to the foreign communities in Egypt which the governments of those peoples in the existing conditions look to her to supply; and, third, that Egypt is safeguarded against all foreign interference or aggression, direct or indirect.

"As soon as an agreement satisfying these conditions has been drawn up between the Egyptian government and the British government, there will be no hesitation on the part of the latter in inviting parliamentary sanction to such an accord."

The Adly mission referred to in the above dispatch was headed by Adly Yeghen Pasha, former premier of Egypt. After visiting England and discussing the Egyptian situation with the British government, he returned to Egypt and resigned the premiership.

Five recommendations of the department of public works with relation to motor vehicles, will be considered by the committee tomorrow. One of these is that which would require that every motor vehicle be equipped with a device to show from the rear the intention of the operator to stop or to turn to right or left. Another is that no cart or other agency except a city, may build or rebuild a highway bridge without first having the plans approved by the department of public works; a third proposes a revision of the statutory limits upon weight, that may be hauled on or by motor trucks; another permits the department to enter upon private land and remove trees or shrubs which constitute an obstruction to view from the highway; and the fifth is a recommendation that an appeal from a decision of the registrar, revoking or suspending a license, shall not operate to stay the ruling.

The committee on legal affairs will consider a bill to include checkers and cards among the "amusements" which may be legally indulged in on Sunday.

ities is that the school committee is to be given complete and exclusive authority over the construction, care and repair of all school buildings, including the appointment of janitors as well as of all other employees in the school department. The school committee is also given exclusive authority over text-books and courses of study.

Executive Official Only

Under the proposed bill, the superintendent of schools is made merely the executive officer of the school committee, with authority to visit schools and make such reports as he may deem proper, but he will be permitted only to make recommendations to the school committee.

Two "industrial" bills are also slated for hearing tomorrow, before the committee on legal affairs. Both are labeled bills to regulate the employment of private detectives, but both are intended to prohibit the employment of private detectives or other persons to induce strikers to commit acts of violence during labor troubles. One is petitioned for by the state branch of the American Federation of Labor, and both carry penalties ranging from five to twenty years in prison.

Vacations for Laborers

The committee on cities will consider tomorrow, a bill providing that every laborer employed in any city or town for at least thirty-two weeks in a year, shall be given two weeks' vacation with pay.

Several bills of interest to motorists are on the calendar for hearing tomorrow, before the committee on highways and motor vehicles. Two have to do with actions of the registrar of motor vehicles in revoking or suspending operating licenses. One provides that when a person whose license has been revoked or suspended is again acquitted of the charge that formed the basis of the revocation or suspension, the license shall be immediately returned. The other person aggrieved by any ruling of the registrar, revoking or suspending a license, may appeal to a board consisting of the commissioner of public safety, the commissioner of public works and an assistant attorney-general.

Motor Vehicle Laws

Five recommendations of the department of public works with relation to motor vehicles, will be considered by the committee tomorrow. One of these is that which would require that every motor vehicle be equipped with a device to show from the rear the intention of the operator to stop or to turn to right or left. Another is that no cart or other agency except a city, may build or rebuild a highway bridge without first having the plans approved by the department of public works; a third proposes a revision of the statutory limits upon weight, that may be hauled on or by motor trucks; another permits the department to enter upon private land and remove trees or shrubs which constitute an obstruction to view from the highway; and the fifth is a recommendation that an appeal from a decision of the registrar, revoking or suspending a license, shall not operate to stay the ruling.

The committee on legal affairs will consider a bill to include checkers and cards among the "amusements" which may be legally indulged in on Sunday.

WHY DO THEY LIKE THIS MAN?

It Is Because He Has the Life and Energy That Red Blood Gives

He has a good color. He is strong and virile, and looks it. He is good humored. He laughs easily. In short, he is "full of life," which is simply another way of saying he is full of red blood. If you are weak and run-down and nervous, don't sleep very well and have a poor appetite, go to your drug-gist and buy a few bottles of Gude's Pepto-Mangan and take it for a few weeks at meal-time. See how it will build you up by giving you plenty of good blood. Don't drag around half sick and half well. Get some "pep," into you by taking Pepto-Mangan. Sold in both liquid and tablet form.—Adv.

TO ENCOURAGE HOME BUILDING

Lumbermen of State Will
Co-operate With Prospective Home Builders

Retail Lumber Dealers Association Elects Officers—Plan Architectural Bureau

Lowell lumbermen in state convention in Boston Saturday listened to a number of stimulating addresses on trade prospects for 1922, elected officers and voted to support the present daylight saving legislation in Massachusetts.

In the future the lumber dealers of the state will not be passive sellers of lumber, merely filling orders if anybody wants lumber. They purpose to stimulate business. They hope to be able to produce markets, and prospective home builders, help them to come to decisions and then supply their wants. Such were the prospects outlined at an enthusiastic convention of the Massachusetts Retail Lumber Dealers' association, held in the Boston city club with nearly 300 members present from various parts of the state, including Lowell, J. L. Chase of Springfield presided.

The new directors elected represented several Bay State cities, the list including the name of Ernest D. Serber of the Davis & Sargent Lumber Co., this city. The directors will choose a president and a secretary.

Among the Lowell lumber men present at the convention in Boston were Mr. Serber, Mr. Leonard D. Abbott, Charles Forrest and Eugene C. Dumbear of the Pratt & Forrest Lumber Co., and E. R. Douglas of the Graham & Davis.

One of the first things the convention did was to reduce its own dues. It reduced its membership fee from $10 a year to $2, and abolished the initiation fee of $10. This action was made possible, it was explained, by the amalgamation with the Retail Lumber Dealers' association of New York, accomplished at the Rochester convention a week ago.

The amalgamated organization is to be known as the Northeastern Retail Lumber Dealers' association, of which Massachusetts becomes a district.

It was brought out at the convention that an organization, the dealers will be able to accomplish a great service to the industry as a whole, and will be able to do some immediate and direct benefits, such as a reduction of freight rates, and refunds through the traffic bureau, but more especially through the development of business by a joint and organized service. One of the big features is the formation of an architectural bureau through which the dealers can obtain plans for use in their respective districts in direct competition with the mail order houses.

The plan service is going to aid building new homes in Lowell, the local members of the association believe. William P. Morring of New York explained the proposed plan service in more detail and illustrated its results by an experience in a town of 12,000 inhabitants. The lumber dealer knew the people, but did not know until the plan service was used that there were 300 people who were thinking about building homes. With these 300 prospects, the dealer can come in contact through the plan service and will have opportunity to discuss plans with them and secure their patronage.

J. H. Free, who will have charge of the architectural plan and publicity bureau, showed what the association can do to assist the members in their connection with the mail order houses for the business that are now built in the country and predicted that dealers everywhere will be able to get most of that business and also stimulate the building industry by showing the owners how to finance and how to build.

The business session of the lumbermen was followed by a banquet.

ANNOUNCE MILL SHARE DIVIDENDS

Dividends on shares in various textile mills are announced for payment in February. Local mills being included in the list:

A dividend of three dollars a share will be payable by the Massachusetts cotton mills on Friday, February 10, at the treasurer's office, Room 818, Exchange building, 53 State street, to shareholders of record.

The Hamilton Manufacturing Co. announces a quarterly dividend of one dollar per share on Wednesday, February 15, at the New England Trust Co., transfer agents, 125 Devonshire street, Boston, to stockholders of record at the close of business, January 25.

The Pacific mills of Lawrence will pay a quarterly dividend of three dollars per share on February 1, at the New England Trust Co., transfer agents, 135 Devonshire street, Boston.

The Pacific mills came through 1921 with a balance on the stock of $1,717,194.40, a $200,000,000 capital, compared with $2,155,000,000 the year before and with $2,333 in Pacific's largest year, 1919. The Lawrence mills were able to improve the margin of profit slightly, the ratio climbing from 7.3 per cent to 8.1 per cent.

These are the comparative high spots of Pacific mill operations. Figures for 1920: Sales, $1,482,694; in 1920, 1,669,078; in 1919, $1,747,212. In 1921, profits, $2,553,662; in 1920, $2,231,584; in 1919, $2,652,921.

LOYAL ORDER OF MOOSE

Lowell Lodge Addressed by Deputy Supreme Dictator Bernard O'Donnell

Deputy Supreme Dictator Bernard O'Donnell of Beverly, placed the class initiation of Lowell lodge, 618, Loyal Order of Moose, held yesterday afternoon in Odd Fellows building, at which time 50 new members were inducted into the lodge. He spoke on "The Social Problem."

The degree work was performed in an excellent manner by a degree team under the direction of Edward Goodson. In addition to the speaker, remarks were made by Brother Drolet, formerly of the Montreal lodge, and under the order of good and welfare, brief remarks were made by Brothers Jodoin, Richards, Hartnett and Green.

A pleasing musical program was given by the orchestra of Brother Jodoin, the lodge pianist. A buffet luncheon was served in the banquet hall.

WANT WAITING ROOM AND BETTER SERVICE

Mayor George H. Brown said today that he hopes soon to be able to confer with the special committee of the city council, named for the purpose of meeting with representatives of the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. relative to the location of a street car waiting room downtown, improved service and lower units of fare.

The order creating the committee, introduced into the council by Councilor James J. Gallagher, provides for a conference with the mayor to obtain his recommendations. The committee includes Councilors Gallagher, Cameron and Ganes.

WELL SATISFIED WITH AUTO SHOW RESULTS

Lowell automobile dealers are well satisfied with the results of the Kaskino show, which came to an end Saturday evening. The real intention of the show was to exhibit the newest cars and the large display proved very attractive for city and country visitors. Thousands of people enjoyed the show attractions and the list of actual sales made is a creditable one in every respect.

George H. Dana, president of the Lowell Automobile Merchants' association, Inc., says that every agent and salesman in Lowell is entirely satisfied with the results of the exhibition week and future prospects. The spirit of co-operation, he said, was "above reproach" and the entire show exceeded all expectations. Coming from Mr. Dana, this means something, other automobile men say, and one and all heartily agree with his views.

Dealers began this morning removing the exhibition cars to local showrooms. They expect to complete the work by tonight.

ASSOCIATE BUILDING

The Associate building at the corner of Merrimack and Worthen streets has been sold to Samuel S. Katze of Lawrence, owner of the Black block in Bridge street of this city. The building and land are assessed for $112,250 and it is understood that the purchase price is $150,000 plus $3500 for 1921 taxes. Although preliminary papers have been signed and a deposit has been made, it is not expected that final papers transferring the property to Mr. Katze will be signed before a couple of months because of the amount of work involved in looking up the titles.

The sale of the property is being made through a decree issued by the superior court as a result of a suit brought about a year ago by local attorney in behalf of O'Sullivan Bros., Humphrey O'Sullivan and James O'Sullivan. The suit was brought in an endeavor to determine just what the respective rights of the City Institution for Savings, which holds a mortgage on the property, the Lowell Trust Co., which has a deed against the property, the Washington Savings Institution, which has a similar claim, and James J. Coffey, who also claims an interest because of a debt.

The court has decided that the parties named have valid claims on the property, and accordingly the court ordered that a commission be appointed to sell the property, and to report to the court the proceeds in proper proportions among the owners. The commission was composed as follows: James G. Hill, representing the City Institution for Savings; Daniel J. Donohue, representing the Lowell Trust Co.; John P. O'Donnoghue, representing Mr. Coffey; John J. Hogan, representing the Washington Savings bank; and Albert S. Howard, representing the O'Sullivan Bros.

The sale was effected through the office of Edward J. Smith, a local real estate agent, whose offices are in the Swan building. Mr. Katze was represented at the sale by Paul Clay of Lawrence.

TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF WILLIAM M'KINLEY

The 12th anniversary of the birth of William McKinley, martyred president, was observed with appropriate services last evening, in the First Congregational church. Rev. Percy E. Rev. Mr. Thomas took for his text a passage from the second letter of Peter: "If ye do these things ye shall never fail." The quotation discussed in the sermon was assigned as the reason for the material and moral success of McKinley.

GIRLS' CITY CLUB IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

As the result of a convention held Saturday in the Hotel Westminster, Boston, by the National League of Girls' clubs, the Lowell Girls' City club is a member of the organization. The local club was organized during the war and was then known as the Girls' Community Service club. After the end of the war, the name was changed to the present one. The local club is practically self-supporting. It is made up, for a great part, of working girls.

The local club will work through the Massachusetts League of Girls' clubs, which is affiliated with the national organization. Miss Alice Sullivan, the director, four delegates and the officer of the club attended Saturday's convention.

CARD OF THANKS

We, the undersigned, take this means to express our thanks to all those who helped in the funeral of our wife and mother, especially the employees of the Massachusetts Mohair Finishing Co. who were so kind as to allow us to use their hall for the funeral.

RIVER ICE HARVESTED

Merrimack Yields "Crop" of Excellent Ice for Gage Co. Houses

The big ice harvest is over. The river fields in Pawtucketville looked lonesome this morning, with many a soul around except here and there in the yards and over at the stables and blacksmith shops.

The Gage people have finished cutting on the river, and with the exception of a little more work over at Beaver Brook in the Navy Yard district, where 21-inch ice is being gathered, the season may be said to have closed officially at sunset Saturday evening.

More than 50,000 tons of the finest congealed moisture ever garnered from the upper reaches of the old Merrimack have been stored in the 11 big houses on the river banks, and over 2000 tons of good thick ice, running all the way from 11 to 15 inches in thickness, have been piled up in the yards outside the houses ready for delivery from now on.

Warren Ferrell, the real king pin manager of the big ice cutting operations, hasn't been around much this winter to superintend things, owing to illness, but he has kept in mighty close touch with everything all the time, and he is pleased with the splendid way in which the tremendous job has been handled by his able subordinates and the gang of ice harvesters numbering 227 on the biggest day's run.

More than last year's cut in the snow that fell on the 11th of this morning, eight men were cleaning up the channels today, and around the houses new sheds were being built to cover the ice in the yards so the sun won't hit it.

Joe Senzel, stableman, says he has had a good winter with that bunch of 135 horses that Mr. Martin Gage has been cutting and delivering for the Gage people, and when good horse flesh can be bought at reasonable prices.

The Sun man found little that was actually new around the Gage plant today. The harness shop was a busy place, the blacksmith quarters also going steady, and the repair shop looked busy with the boys in overalls and jumpers had plenty of work cut out for them.

George L. Ferson, barn foreman, reports the wagon horses O.K. and no sickness to speak of all winter. A few old-timers are not going on the wagons steadily, but the majority are in good condition and, of course, ready for the finest of care.

Blacksmiths hold down the blacksmith quarters with four hefty blacksmiths to help him.

J. Frank Humphrey, foreman of deliveries, is also making up his books for the new year, looking after teams and stable affairs.

A. W. Clue of Centralville's horse harness shop, but not by the rush work on harnesses is finished. He has held down the harness shop for years, and can tell you the price of all kinds of leather from the heel straps to the saddles.

Painter and Plumber Will Polier is considering new purchases, and all of his suggestions are O.K. until the end of the season. He is a quality of points by just adding his fingers into the cans and then smelling of it.

Master Mechanic Hiram E. Linscott, boss carpenter and repairman, is considering new purchases for the big Gage plant, and has a lot of work ahead before the crochets bloom down near the river, broomhouse.

The city of Lowell stored in the yards and many houses has been inspected by hundreds of visitors at the Gage cutting operations. The effort to keep the yards in good condition and every cake transparent. Many guests of the company were out there today, to look over the big cut and comment on its excellent quality and the all new cakes.

The 21-inch ice stored under the outside sheds was the centre of attraction, of course.
